MARINES DIG IN ON THREE ISLANDS TO CONSOLIDATE SOLOMON POSITIONS

Indian Tumult Subsiding; U. S. Troops 'Hands-Off'

America Avoids Participation In Disorders

By The Associated Press.
The upheaval of riot and bloodshed which has marked Mohandas K. Gandhi's do-or-die independence movement showed signs of wearing itself out in its fifth day yesterday, although gunfire two resounded through Bombay's streets where violence has been at its height.

American armed forces are in India solely to prosecute the war against the Axis and have been warned to avoid scrupulously any participation in internal troubles there, the State Department said last night.

The presence of American forces in India, the department revealed, is primarily to aid China.

In the event of disturbances where they are stationed they are authorized to resort to defensive measures only, "should their own personal safety or that of other American citizens be endangered."

U. S. Orders.
The announcement pointed out that the policy of the United States government in this emergency already had been made part of the orders issued to American forces who have been in India for some time.

There was marked improvement in the attendance of mill-workers in the factory area of India, train and tram services were fairly normal again, barricades erected in the streets by rioters were being pulled down, and the mill area presented an appearance of comparative quiet except for scattered incidents.

Violence still flared in many of India's cities, however, and at Poon, where Gandhi is interned, four persons were reported killed by gunfire late in the afternoon. Ten were injured.

Completely in Hand.
(The India office in London issued a statement saying the authorities had the situation "completely in hand" and any picture of widespread disorder was "utterly distorted.")

Up to 5 p. m. the looting of a government grainshop and two government food trucks were the only outbreaks, but police, saying that quiet rumors were to be expected, warned that the afternoon was the likeliest time for trouble.

This warning was emphasized when in the late afternoon troops were forced to fire on an unruly crowd which had stoned a military truck, and again when a mob attempted to destroy a post office box in the Zaveri bazaar. There were casualties in the first instance, but none in the second.

Police said the mobs appeared to be getting tired of their activities. The bulk of the rowdiness in Bombay could be traced to not more than 50 persons using students and others to keep it going, officers asserted, and so far few members of Gandhi's congress party had taken part.

The congress party press also asserted the rioters contained few

HE'S IN THE ARMY NOW—Clark Gable—yes, the famous movie star—is shown here as he was sworn in as a buck private by Colonel M. P. Andruss at Los Angeles.

Gable Nervous Liberty Ship As He Signs Up Is Named for As Buck Private Joel C. Harris

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—(P)—A nervous Clark Gable put aside the wealth and fame of Hollywood today to enlist in the Army as a buck private.

What may be the last public appearance for some time of the idol of thousands of feminine movie fans took place high in the Federal building, with half a floor roped off and guarded to insure privacy.

Gable listened intently as Colonel Malcolm P. Andruss read the Army oath.

The screen star's hand was shaking noticeably as he raised it to say "I do" in a half-faltering voice.

"I hope you will serve with honor to yourself and your country," Colonel Andruss said when it was over. "I welcome you into the United States Army."

"Thank you, sir," Gable replied, with a wide smile and a handshake.

The screen star, 41 and widowed by the death of Carole Lombard in an airplane accident several months ago as he concluded a bond-selling tour, was to leave tonight for Miami, Fla., and three months' basic training, after which he hopes to enroll in officers' candidate school.

"I am very happy about it all," he said. "I have made application to be a gunner and I'm going to do my very best. There's nothing else to say."

For years one of Hollywood's

Nazis Punch Another Hole In Red Lines

By EDDY GILMORE.

MOSCOW, Thursday, August 13.—(P)—Germans troops have punched another hole in Russian positions astride the Rostov-Baku railroad in the Cherkessk area, but the Red army is holding firmly on the approaches to Stalingrad, the Soviets announced early today.

"In the area of Cherkessk our troops have retired to new positions," the Russian communique said.

Cherkessk is 70 miles southeast of Armavir and about 200 miles from the rich Grozny oil fields, and the Germans thus are continuing their hard drive southeastward along the northern fringe of the Caucasian mountains.

Oil Field Struggle.

The Red army was still fighting heavy defensive battles in the Maikop oil fields west of Cherkessk, and also at Krasnodar on the Kuban river 60 miles northwest of Maikop.

Nearly 2,000 Germans were reported during the last 24 hours in Nazi efforts to bridge a water-line (probably the Kuban) in the Krasnodar sector, the Russians said.

The apparent German goal in the west is twofold: To reach the Soviet Black Sea ports of Novorossiysk and Tuapse. A railroad from Krasnodar leads to the former, and another spur from Maikop goes through 3,000-foot mountains to Tuapse.

Northwest of Stalingrad the Don river bent the Red army was reported to have fought off repeated German attacks at Kletskaya and south of that city, which is 75 miles from Stalingrad. (The Germans claimed on Wednesday the capture of 57,000 Russians in this area, including most of the 62nd Red army.)

South of the Don in the Kotelnikowski sector the Russians reported offensive successes.

Nazis on Defensive.
The communique said the Germans in some regions had been forced onto the defensive and added:

"Our troops launched a series of successful attacks and are mauling the enemy, not giving him a chance to consolidate."

Soviet tankmen supported by artillery and aircraft killed 700 Germans and destroyed 16 tanks and other valuable equipment when falling upon a Nazi column, the communique said.

Far to the north on the upper Don the Russians said their troops fighting on the west bank of the river in the Voronezh sector had killed another 500 Germans in two days.

"On a neighboring sector street fighting took place in one populated locality," the communique said.

Yesterday's high reading was 86; the low, 68.

"Any doctrine that preaches class hatred in Georgia is a sin of the deepest dye. Any doctrine that preaches prejudice is merely the doctrine of a hypocrite who is trying to hide under a shadow for the purpose of stealing."

Saboteur Aides May Be Tried For Treason

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(P)—The Justice Department disclosed today it would ask grand juries to return treason indictments against at least seven persons alleged to have aided the eight Nazis who came by submarine to wreck America's war production program.

Attorney General Biddle announced that, in all, criminal indictments would be sought against 12 persons, while the remaining two of the 14 originally seized as alleged accomplices have been interned as dangerous enemy aliens. Evidence against the latter two does not warrant criminal prosecution, Biddle said at a press conference.

The Justice Department intends to ask the strongest charges warranted by the evidence available, the attorney general said. He said in response to a question that it was believed the evidence would justify indictment for treason—the most extreme crime and one which carries the death penalty—"more than half" of the cases.

Where the evidence does not justify a treason charge, indictment will be sought under other statutes, Biddle said.

The 14 persons have been in custody a minimum of six weeks. Four are held as enemy aliens without criminal charge. Two of these, Mrs. Maria Kerling, widow of Edward John Kerling, leader of one group of four saboteurs, and Ernst Herman Kerkhof, have been ordered interned for the duration of the war. Indictments will be sought against the other two, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jaques, the Justice Department said.

Americans Sink Jap Ship, Fire Three Others

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(P)—Hard-hitting United States Marines successfully effected landings on three of the Solomon islands in the vicinity of Tulagi, the Navy announced tonight, and operations have advanced to the point where they are digging in and consolidating their positions in the face of fierce enemy resistance.

Co-operating Allied bombers meanwhile dealt a smashing blow against four Japanese ships at Rabaul, the strong Japanese New Britain base whence supplies have been ferried to the Solomons.

A communique issued by General MacArthur's headquarters said one large ship was left sinking, two medium ships were set afire and left listing, and a 15,000-ton vessel also was ablaze after Allied airmen dropped their explosives on Rabaul's harbor northwest of the Solomons.

The strength of the resistance in the Solomons was indicated in a Navy statement that sea forces supporting the landings have been engaged in "bitter fighting," a fact suggesting that the Japanese had rallied powerful air and surface units to the defense of their beleaguered troops.

Those troops apparently were already in a strong defensive position. The Navy said there was substantial evidence that the Japs "had well underway" the development of a base in the Tulagi area—presumably at Tulagi harbor, which is a fine natural naval base.

The Navy's report on the campaign in the Solomons was given in communique 104 on the sixth day of the fighting. The communique made no claim of decisive success as yet and clearly left open the possibility that many days of hard fighting are ahead before the avowed American purpose of driving the Japs out of the vital Tulagi area can be attained.

Explaining that details of the naval battle are "not yet available," the Navy said that the marine landing parties also were receiving the support of U. S. Army and Australian warplanes which "are continuing attacks on enemy landing fields and shore-based aircraft."

This was linked here with reports from Australia earlier in the day that bombers under the supreme command of General Douglas MacArthur had attacked enemy bases in New Britain, New Guinea, Kei and Timor—points from which the Japs were reasonably would attempt to speed reinforcements into the Solomons battle area.

Islands Unidentified.

Exactly where this area is was not stated by the Navy. The three islands on which landings have been made were unidentified. Tulagi itself is a small island in the Florida group and Florida lies between the larger islands of Guadalcanal on the southwest and Malaita on the northeast. It seemed certain that one or more of these islands was among the three on which fighting is in progress.

On the whole it was a day of world warfare clouded by the necessities of military secrecy.

For 48 hours there had been almost no official details on the amphibious invasion of Tulagi and perhaps two adjacent Solomon Islands by American Marine, Naval and Air Forces.

Landing Parties.

Reports from the Australian theater, some of which were made, were taken to suggest that the landing parties had made some progress against the fierce resistance of the occupying forces, and were digging into the jungle already won. The extremely strict official secrecy on all details in the operations area also made it seem quite likely that our Marine beach-heads were being strengthened by sea.

In their fourth straight attack on the occupied periphery from which the enemy obviously is trying to reinforce New Guinea,

Our Planes and Output Best, Industry Answers With Figures

By COL. JOHN H. JOUETT

For North American Newspaper Alliance.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The United Nations now have an advantage over the enemy in efficiency of combat planes which should prove to be one of the decisive factors in winning the war.

There never has been any question about the bombers produced here and in England. Type for type, depending on the work for which they are designed, whether for long or short range raiding with light or heavy bomb loads on missions involving either low or high altitudes, our bombers have been doing a far better job than those of the Germans, Italians or Japanese.

But from the day that war broke out three years ago, recurrent criticism, largely from self-styled civilian experts and occasionally from a few of the pilots themselves, has attempted to place American and British fighter planes second best, and since Pearl Harbor also inferior to the Jap Zero. The last eight months have proved quite the contrary. This has been substantiated by official records cited by the Army and Navy.

Our Army and Navy air forces have been up against the Zero hundreds of times. The total number of fighter planes involved on both sides has been more than 2,000. To date the Jap losses in actual air combat have been more than double ours. Our Bell Airacobras, Curtis P-40 and Grummans Wildcat planes have done most of this fighting against the Zero; and they have knocked it out of the air at least two to one, and very often three to one, in every fight.

Criticism of American and British warplanes, as allegedly inferior to Axis planes, is discussed here by the president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America. Colonel Jouett has behind him more than 25 years of practical, technical and financial experience in aviation. A graduate of West Point in 1904, he went to France in the World War with the balloon section of the A. E. F. and later served four years in the office of chief of air corps as chief of training and personnel division. In 1932 he went at the invitation of the Chinese government to organize the Chinese air force and establish a military flying school.

up to August 1. Our bomber record in defense against hundreds of Zero attacks is almost as good. The reason is that our planes have been built to give punishment and take it. The Zero has not, although there is a new Zero which appears to be an effort in that direction.

While our pilots display much better training for combat, the Jap pilot nevertheless is a good flyer. The earlier Zero lets him prove it. Its top speed is about 320 miles per hour, and it can outclimb and outmaneuver some of our older service planes. But it has no armor plate to protect the

Fish, Hoyt Ready To Battle for House Seat in New York

Hotels, Rooms Are Included In Rent Ceiling

Lodging, Meals Must Be Charged Separately, Says OPA.

In a statement issued yesterday, Hal L. Smith, Atlanta OPA area rent director, emphasized hotels and rooming houses are specifically included in the federal rent control program which became effective in Fulton, DeKalb, Cobb and Clayton counties August 1.

"Boarding houses are also covered by the rent control order," Smith pointed out. "Under the terms of the regulations, landlords must make separate charges for meals furnished with lodging."

"Landlords cannot oblige tenants to take meals as a condition of renting a room unless the room was rented on that basis June 15 of this year," Smith said. Rent levels for hotels, rooming houses and boarding houses, as well as apartment houses and private dwellings, is the highest paid in the 30 days ending March 1, 1942.

Smith gave the following example: "A room, rented as a single room, where the highest rent charged was $4 a week ending March 30 days ending March 1, now has a legal rent of $4 for one person in that room."

"It all depends on how many persons occupied a room at the same time during the base period, how the rent was paid, and what the highest rent was on this rental basis during this period," Smith explained.

Any charges, such as single occupancy of a room which was occupied by two persons during the base period, must be ruled on individually by OPA rent officials.

Preliminary discussions of methods of registering this area's estimated 100,000 rental units will be held by Smith and staff members tonight with Decatur realty interests and Friday afternoon with the Atlanta Real Estate Board and other Fulton county real estate operators.

War Victory Obligation Is Seen for U. S.

Conference Held To Further Study of Aviation in Schools.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Dr. S. V. Sanford, of the University of Georgia, chairman of a southeastern committee to promote aeronautical education in schools, declared here today that the United States' obligation to contribute to victory now transcends all other things.

He spoke at a conference of educators and aviation leaders called to discuss steps looking toward extending the study of aeronautics in the nation's schools. Similar meetings are being held in other sections of the country.

Later, the Georgia educator announced the appointment of a regional committee, composed of the following state chairmen, to direct the "gospel of aviation" program: Alabama, President L. N. Duncan, of Auburn; Florida, President John J. Tigert, of the University of Florida; Georgia, President Harmon W. Caldwell, of the University of Georgia; Louisiana, President Campbell B. Hodges, of Louisiana State University; Mississippi, President G. D. Humphrey, of Mississippi State; South Carolina, President James Rion McKissick; Tennessee, President Alexander Guerry, of the University of the South at Sewanee.

Soldier's Letter From Bataan Received Here

'Birds Are Not Singing,' Wrote Captain Weinstein on March 21.

A letter from Bataan reached Atlanta yesterday—from Captain Alfred Weinstein, of the Medical Corps, who wrote the message to Julian Boehm, well-known Atlantan, on March 21.

Since that letter left, Bataan has fallen and the Japs control the islands. Captain Weinstein was heard from on the island of Cebu on April 9, but no word has come through concerning his fate.

"My Dear Julian," he wrote back then. "Here goes and I hope that this letter will get to you. Out here in Bataan the first day of spring has arrived, bringing to me memories of peach blossom time in south Georgia and the impending beauty of the dogwood season in Atlanta.

In these jungles there are no such happiness of spring; the flowers have no odor; the birds no song. The only music is the not too distant roar of huge guns and the sharp crack of antiaircraft bursts.

"We are all feeling fine. I especially am in better condition, tougher and hungrier than I have ever been in my life. Not a scratch has marred my manly beauty (knock on wood), although I have had some interesting experiences which I shall relate to you personally on my return to Atlanta.

"Food, shelter and clothing is adequate under the circumstances. I still weight 132 pounds and eat this much relish. We are called to check by the change of an old frying pan, the call of which brings us out in a rush.

"The morale is high and everybody feels we have the Nips stymied. We are anxious to get back to Manila and re-establish regular mail and telegraph connections with the states.

"I am very eager to receive news from you and my friends."

VOICE FROM BATAAN—Captain Alfred Weinstein, of the Army Medical Corps, formerly of Atlanta, was safe on Bataan last March 21 when he wrote a letter to Julian Boehm, but his whereabouts are unknown now.

Four Stations Suspended For Gas Violations

All Are Charged With Failure To Punch Ration Cards.

Suspension of four additional filling stations in the southeast, one in Atlanta, was announced yesterday by the regional Office of Price Administration. They were charged with violation of gasoline rationing regulations under the old card system, by failing to punch cards when gasoline was purchased.

The operators and their periods of suspension are: C. M. Dodd, Peachtree and Collier roads, Atlanta, 30 days; C. G. Bailey, Rossville, Ga., 30 days; Guy Hardaway, Greenville, Ga., 30 days; Mrs. G. H. Suddath, operating as Capital City Motor Company, Tallahassee, Fla., 15 days.

Evidence obtained by OPA inspectors was presented at open suspension hearings, followed by review in Washington. Defendants may sell at retail the gasoline stocks they have on hand, but are forbidden to receive or transfer gasoline.

Grenades Are Hurdled At Nazis Near Paris

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The British radio reported today that a group of German fliers drilling in Jean Bouin stadium in suburban Paris, had been attacked with hand grenades, two of them killed and eight severely injured.

The broadcast, heard by CBS, gave no source for this report and did not say who was held responsible for the attacks.

BBC also said that French police had discovered a dynamite cache near Clermont-Ferrand and that all police leaves in that area had been cancelled.

When placing your Want Ad in The Constitution inquire about the attractive seven-day rate.

Be on Lookout For Stolen Gas Ration Books

Serial Numbers on 4,450 Packets Taken at Washington Listed.

If you see gasoline ration books with the following serial numbers, the nearest ration board or Office of Price Administration would like to know about it.

These numbers belong to 4,450 ration books which were stolen when two local rationing boards in Washington, D. C., were burglarized a few nights ago.

It is believed an attempt may be made to sell the books on a new kind of "black market."

The numbers are: Class A—112601 to 113,000; Class B—350001 to 351,000. Also 302501 to 303,000; Class C—192751 to 193,000; Class E—29037 to 29,500; Class R—50501 to 50,750. Also 59501 to 59,750; Class S—691255 to 691,500. Also 691750 to 692,000. Also 97501 to 98,000; Class S2—424601 to 424,800. Also 428401 to 428,600.

BRITISH RAIL RAISE. LONDON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—An industrial court today awarded Britain's railway shopmen $1.70 increase in the basic minimum weekly wage rate plus "war wage." The shopmen had asked for $2. The increase brings the minimum, plus the "war wage," to $13.50 some towns and $14.10 in London.

U. S. Planes and Output Best, Says Industry

skill in maneuvering. But they are much safer for our pilots, which is important. A burst of gunfire into the Zero causes it either to disintegrate in midair or burst into flames. Our ships have come back bullet-riddled with the pilot unharmed. Our leak-proof tanks are so effective that often they are not changed after repeated hits. As many as 34 cannon and machine-gun hits have been counted after an American plane has returned victorious from a dog-fight.

The science of aerodynamics demands a compromise between weight and speed. For years air force leaders here and in England have insisted on combining adequate fire power and safety installations with the best speed obtainable under those conditions.

They are adhering to that policy in all the new and progressively more efficient models now in varying degrees of production. This consistent policy, which permits the manufacturer to carry on steady engineering research should keep us ahead of the enemy.

The Germans, whose engineering ability and resourcefulness cannot be denied, were practicing in the other school of aerodynamics when early in the war they hurled their Messerschmitt and other fighters across the Maginot line. They were fast but not very safe for the pilots. Later German models have been improved, but still American and British fighters all the way from England to Russia and the Near East are winning far more battles than they lose. There also our bombers find it possible to carry out successful missions against the fighter-escorted German transports.

The Germans have been using armor plate, leak-proof tanks and in some cases heavier fire power. Their most effective plane seems to be the new 370 m. p. h. Focke-Wulf 190. It has been giving the British some trouble even against their latest Spitfire, which is a short range, fast-climbing fighter designed especially for intercepting the enemy at altitudes up to 40,000 feet. One of the new Focke-Wulf ships has been brought down in England intact and it is being studied closely.

The German development and Japanese experience with their defenseless Zero probably influenced Tokyo in bringing out a new Zero which has been in action over at least two Far East fronts. This latter model shows the results of the compromise with weight. It has an effective fighting range up to about 20,000 feet, which puts it in a class with the British Hurricane and some of our older models still in active service. It has two 20-mm. cannons and seven light caliber machineguns; and there is some armor protection for the pilot. This additional weight has slowed it down, and it is not too much of a menace, probably very little for our new machines that are now going into service over all fronts in all war zones. It is, however, like the Focke-Wulf, an incentive toward continued improvement here.

That raises the question as to quantity, because refinements in the design of new models bring

Arkwright Opposes New Tax Measure As Being Too Harsh

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A five-year plan of war financing, involving the current collection of income taxes, a 10 per cent sales levy and a 5 per cent withholding tax, was laid before Congress today by representatives of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

NAMESAKE—The 10th Liberty ship launched by the Alabama Dry Dock & Shipbuilding Company at Mobile yesterday was named for Joel Chandler Harris. Harris joined the editorial staff of The Constitution in 1878 and his "Uncle Remus" stories first appeared in this newspaper.

Liberty Ship Is Named for Joel C. Harris

Howell, then president and editor-in-chief of The Constitution.

As the legend goes, Captain Howell was strolling through the old Kimball House when he happened to look at the register and saw an entry: "Joel Chandler Harris, his wife and two measly children."

"Who is this man?" Captain Howell demanded. In half an hour he had met Harris and the next morning he had him signed up for The Constitution.

Harris had fled Savannah because of the yellow fever epidemic on the coast in '78.

He invented the character, "Uncle Remus," at the insistence of Captain Howell, the father of the late Clark Howell and the grandfather of Clark Howell, present editor and publisher of The Constitution.

Harris has five children in Atlanta, Evelyn Harris, a vice president of Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company; Lucien Harris, an insurance executive; Julian Harris, southern editorial correspondent of the New York Times; and Joel Chandler Harris, Jr., southern representative of the Kelly-Smith Advertising Company, and Mrs. Edwin Camp. Another daughter, Mrs. Fritz Wagner, lives in LaGrange.

WLB To Hear Case In Steel Dispute

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The War Labor Board took jurisdiction today in the wage dispute between the U. S. Steel Corporation and the CIO United Steelworkers of America, and arranged for an expeditious decision.

Instead of routing the case through the usual mediation panel procedure, the board obtained a stipulation of the points at issue, and decided to hear the case itself at a public hearing next Tuesday.

The case affects about 300,000 employees of these U. S. Steel subsidiaries: Carnegie-Illinois, Pittsburgh; Columbia Steel Company, New York; American Steel and Wire, Cleveland; National Tube Company, New York; and Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company.

PAINTER EXECUTED.

Strongly endorsing a proposal for a "daylighting" method of collecting individual income taxes, Ellsworth C. Alvord, chairman of the chamber's finance group, urged senators to launch "an offensive of the fiscal front" by revising drastically the house-approved revenue bill.

Leading off a long list of utility company witnesses, President Arkwright, Atlanta, Ga., president of the Georgia Power Company, declared higher power rates would not solve difficulties which would confront his firm under the house-approved bill, "because we would have to get $100 in increased rates before we would receive $10 net."

Would Be Calamity. He testified the company faced $1,687,000 debt reduction payments every year. To meet them, he said, it would be necessary to use funds set aside for depreciation, or to reduce dividends to preferred stockholders, 8,328 of whom live in Georgia.

"If we had to reduce or pass those dividends, it would be a calamity," Arkwright said. "I couldn't face the stockholders. I couldn't go on living in Georgia."

He proposed that excess profits taxes be computed after deduction of the normal tax and surtax, instead of before. As an alternative, Arkwright asked that the company be allowed to deduct its payments on the principal of its debt before figuring the tax. He also asked that preferred stock dividends be deducted for tax purposes.

Arkwright said ability of the Georgia Power Company to provide new electric and transportation facilities needed in the war effort would be impaired unless the proposed 1942 federal tax law is amended.

Five-Year Plan. He said certain provisions of the tax bill as written by the house would bear down so harshly on the company that it would be unable to pay its debts without drawing on funds needed for new electric facilities and transit equipment.

Alvord told the senate committee it ought to plan five years ahead for war and post-war financing by arranging to siphon off the amount of revenues through taxation and to channel government borrowing into the field of current income and savings, rather than operating through commercial banks.

To meet post-war conditions, Alvord proposed that individuals and corporations be permitted to deduct up to 20 per cent of their taxable income for purchase of noninterest government bonds.

He expressed the opinion that "many billions" more than the $6,271,000,000 in additional revenue provided by the house bill could be raised if individual income tax collections were made out of current income.

Asks Reduction. He recommended reduction of normal and surtax levies on corporations to a combined total of 35 per cent, instead of the 45 per cent voted by the house.

The American Federation of Labor notified congress it was opposed to a limitation of net incomes to $25,000 annually.

Raymond G. Cranch, of the Washington research staff of the AFL, told the Senate Finance Committee his organization realized that many independent business men would find it necessary to restrict their activities, reduce their war work and decrease their employment of labor under such a limitation.

"The nation would indeed be shortsighted to limit productivity of its business men by such an arbitrary and inflexible rule," Cranch said the AFL approved the levying of high taxes to win the war "but can see no justice in arbitrary wage freezing, either for the worker or for the employer."

Women's Rifle Team To Be Formed in Putnam

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. EATONTON, Ga., Aug. 12.—Regardless of how many Putnam men leave for duty in the armed service, the county will still be protected, according to plans advanced today by Lieutenant George M. Scheer, of the Eatonton unit of the State Guard.

With the assistance of Captain W. E. Hunter, county commander of the guard, Lieutenant Scheer plans to organize a corps of women rifle-shooters. Classes in marksmanship will begin at an early date with contests being staged later.

"We hope to have the women trained to the extent that Hitler will warn all his spies to avoid Putnam county," Lieutenant Scheer said.

Augusta Firm Given Contract in Virginia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The War Department announced yesterday the award of the following contracts by the Army engineers:

Between $50,000 and $100,000: L. H. Simkins, Augusta, Ga., fencing and gates, McIntosh county, Virginia; Savannah engineer office.

Tobacco Sales Pass '41 Total At Moultrie

Average Price Per Pound Also Much Higher This Year Than Last.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. MOULTRIE, Ga., Aug. 12.—At the close of the first 10 days of sales this year, the Moultrie tobacco market had surpassed the total 1941 flue-cured sales by 202,212 pounds and growers had received $690,696.76 more for their offerings than they did for the entire crop last year, figures compiled by warehousemen here reveal.

During the first 10-day period this year, sales on the Moultrie market have totaled 5,443,962 pounds with 5,241,750 pounds for the entire 1941 season. The average price on local markets this year has been $32.10 per 100 while

Driverless Auto Here Threads Traffic, But Has Three Wrecks

An automobile was parked in front of 97 Cone street at 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

Suddenly, the car decided maybe it was a good time to take a ride. The catch was that the driver was absent. So were any passengers.

So the car began to roll. Down the grade it went, striking a car owned by C. E. Florence, of 772 Brookline street, S. W., then a car owned by E. L. Hutchins, of 1428 Donnelly avenue, S. W.

Across Luckie street the car rolled, through the afternoon traffic without damage; then continuing its journey down Cone street, the now rampant wreck encountered a car owned by W. C. Williams, of 651 Greenview avenue, Buckhead. Then the car decided that was enough riding for the time, and came to a halt.

Patrolmen W. W. Ford and E. S. Faucett impounded the vehicle, pending a call from its owner.

1941's average price was $20.14, year was $1,746,744.67, while the total amount paid for the grow-entire crop sold here last season during the first 10 days this brought only $1,036,038.91.

Dublin Minister Named Missionary

RIDGECREST, N. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Nine new missionaries were appointed by the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention at a special called session here today.

The board also transacted financial matters designed to retire its full indebtedness within eight months.

Among appointments announced by Dr. Charles E. Maddray, executive secretary of the board, were the Rev. M. P. Calloway, of Dublin, Ga., and Mrs. Calloway, of Summit, N. J., to the Near East. They will study Arabic and Hebrew languages and culture at Harvard University beginning next month.

CHANGE IS NOTED. ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 12.—Relationship between crop and livestock income on Georgia farms, according to a report by the Agricultural Extension Service, has changed during the past 18 years.

Mexico Gives Navarro Permit to Join Army

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Mexican government gave the screen actor, Ramon Navarro, permission today to enlist in the United States Army without losing his Mexican citizenship. The permission given Navarro, whose full name is Ramon Navarro Samaniego, was the first of its kind. The permanent commission of congress, which functions while congress is in recess, and which gave its consent, has previously refused some 5,000 similar applications.

Furnish your home at a saving through the large selection of worth-while "Household Goods," all at bargain prices, in today's Constitution.

Tobacco Bidding Continues Lively

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture said bidding continued active on the Georgia and Florida flue-cured tobacco markets yesterday and all the better quality grades showed gains of from $1 to $2 per hundred pounds.

The department added that "lower quality grades were unchanged to slightly lower," and "the bulk of the tobacco was composed of common to fair quality leaf, low to good quality lugs, and nondescript."

A general average of $28.80 was reported for Monday's sales on 10 out of the 17 markets.

The Army and Navy in Georgia

Assignment of John Bradley Campbell, of Atlanta, as an assistant Red Cross field director at Camp Gordon, was announced at Alexandria, Va., this week by Frank Grayson, eastern area director of Red Cross military and naval welfare service.

Campbell, who recently was assigned to the field director staff of the Red Cross, has just completed a special training course given at national headquarters in Washington, D. C.

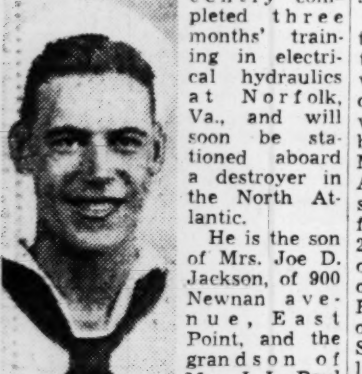

Stationed at every United States military camp and naval station at home and abroad, Red Cross field directors assist service men with welfare problems and help arrange any special aid required by the men themselves or their families at home.

Before his Red Cross appointment, Campbell was for several years a professional baseball player and later a case worker in the city of St. Louis, Mo.

A native of St. Louis, he received his education in Culver-Stockton College and the University of Missouri.

VINCENT JACKSON COMPLETES TRAINING

Vincent Keith Jackson, gunner's mate second class, has recently completed three months' training in electrical hydraulics at Norfolk, Va., and will soon be stationed aboard a destroyer in the North Atlantic.

He is the son of Mrs. Joe D. Jackson, of 900 Newnan avenue, East Point, and the grandson of Mrs. J. L. Paul.

Mr. Jackson, who has made a patriotic record in having seven grandsons in the armed services of the United States.

Joining the Navy three years ago, he has been stationed in Ireland and Scotland. He graduated from Russell High School in 1937.

ATLANTANS ENLIST IN THE NAVY

The following Atlantans have enlisted in the United States Navy through the Navy Recruiting Station, New Post Office building:

Robert Cotter Smith, of 1141 Ormewood avenue; James Howard Donaldson, of 132 Woodward avenue, S. E.; Clifford Walker Elster, of 203 Flora avenue, N. E.; Ralph Alfred Dendard Jr., of 185 Ormand street, S. E.; Rufus Franklin Donaldson, of 272 Glen Iris drive, N. E.; Gordon Floyd Donaldson, of 1281 Euclid avenue, N. E.; Samuel Edgar Riddle, of 1225 Marietta street; Harry Pearson, of 1225 Marietta street; James Edward Harmon, of 600 Highland avenue, N. E.; and Carroll Louis Hunt, of 4475 Roswell road.

Other Georgians enlisting were: Harris LaGrange Pope, of Tallapoosa; James Huxley Strickland, of Alpharetta; Charles Henry New, of East Point; Glen Alvin Rogers, of Hiawasse; Edward Carroll Allen, of Cornelia; Winston Clyde Dunn, of Holly Springs; Victor Lamar McGee, of Norcross; and Samuel Wilson Burnett, of Decatur.

LAST RITES PLANNED FOR LIEUTENANT DOUGLAS

Memorial services for Lieutenant Stanley Allen Douglas Jr., killed while on flight duty in Alaska with an Army bomber, will be held August 16, at the Larchmont Avenue Presbyterian church, Larchmont, N. Y. Lieutenant Douglas, Army Air Force radio operator, was the son of Mrs. Stanley Douglas, of Larchmont, formerly Miss Marie Sciple, who was a resident of Atlanta for many years.

He is also survived by his father, Stanley Allen Douglas, of Larchmont, and Mrs. Charles E. Sciple, of 826 Peachtree street, N. E., his cousin.

Lieutenant Douglas had been chosen for the special mission to Alaska because of his great skill as a radio operator. A letter from the chaplain of his outfit, the 30th Bombardment Group, at March Field, Riverside, Cal., stated that although the circumstances of his death were as yet unknown, the plane in which he was lost was instrumental in inflicting great damage on the enemy.

A graduate of Mamaroneck High school, he attended New York University and Washington & Lee University.

Before his Red Cross appointment, Campbell was for several years a professional baseball player and later a case worker in the city of St. Louis, Mo.

A native of St. Louis, he received his education in Culver-Stockton College and the University of Missouri.

Getting The Range at Fort Mac

Two new radio buildings are being erected at Fort McPherson and by September they'll be ready for occupancy of 1,000 radio students, Colonel Alexander G. Conoley, director of the Civilian Training school at the post, announced yesterday.

Colonel Conoley issued an invitation at the same time for civilians to seek admission to the radio classes. Those accepted for this training will be taught to be radio operators and will be placed in offices of the Army Signal Corps.

Application for admission to the next class can be made at the personnel office, located in the Civilian Training School building at Fort McPherson.

Persons with 3-A draft ratings are free to apply for this civilian training. Colonel Conoley explained that men with 1-A classifications would not be accepted, but he suggested that such individuals could enlist in the Army and ask for service with the Signal Corps.

The Civilian Training School is operated by the Army Signal Corps. Purpose of the training courses is to teach civilians to handle communications jobs now being held by soldiers, who in turn can be relieved for duty elsewhere.

Remember when you were a youngster, how you could leave a freshly pulled tooth under your pillow and awake to find money in its place?

Well, certain soldiers at Fort McPherson have been making these mornings to find gold and silver under their pillows—in the form of officers' bars. But they've come, not from dental doctors, but from excellent Army records.

Latest to join the lucky lieutenants is Carl C. Van Wey, who has jumped this week from master sergeant to first lieutenant.

Lieutenant Van Wey is a native of Postville, Ia., and has served in the armed services for 14 years. He was enlisted with the Navy for six years and has put in the past eight years with the Army.

At the time of his latest elevation, he was chief operator at the Fort McPherson radio station. He's served there since June, 1941.

Lieutenant Van Wey doesn't look his 39 years, and no one would easily guess that he's the father of a married daughter. The newly-commissioned officer says he probably looks young because "the military life agrees with me."

This is one of several recent instances at Fort McPherson where qualified noncommissioned officers with long Army experience have been sworn in as commissioned officers in the United States Army.

Colonel Clifford C. Early, commander of Fort McPherson, announced the Thursday afternoon retreat parade at 5 o'clock would be held in honor of Colonel Clifford Jones, Fourth Service Command Organized Reserve officer.

Colonel Jones, a native of Georgia, is widely known for his work the past several years with the Organized Reserve and with the citizens military training camps.

The retreat parade will include a review of all the troops at Fort McPherson, with units from the Third Army Headquarters stationed here, and the Reception Center band. The public is invited to the parade ground for those who come by automobile and seats are provided for those who come by trolley. The ceremony lasts approximately half an hour. The weekly turnout at Fort McPherson this summer has attracted hundreds of visitors and will be continued as long as weather permits.

From "buck" private to second lieutenant in 16 months, through the ranks, is the promotion record of Sergeant John Vernon Azevedo, who has been commissioned effective August 10—a rare promotion for an enlisted man.

Twenty-two-year-old Azevedo, a native of Patterson, Cal., enlisted in the Army last year. Since April he has been in the Third Army Corps headquarters at Fort McPherson.

In civilian life he was assistant postmaster at Castroville, Cal., and on the basis of that experience he was commissioned in the Postal Section, Adjutant General's Department. Second Lieutenant Azevedo will be stationed in New York after August 16.

Daniel F. Mims, who has already seen action on the production front in England, both as a civilian and as a member of the RAF, came back to Fort McPherson this week and has enlisted to fight as an American soldier.

Mims, formerly an automobile mechanic, of Heflin, Ala., went to England last year as a civilian technician. Later he enlisted in the Royal Air Force as an aircraft mechanic, serving six months, mostly at Bournemouth, England.

Recently he was offered his release from the RAF in order to come home to enlist in the United States Army—which he did. He is now at Fort McPherson Reception Center awaiting assignment.

Mims says the principal dish served while he was stationed at Bournemouth was fish—kipper, herring. He had to "learn" to like them, he reports.

Not so with the English girls, whom Mims found "very pretty." He was especially enthusiastic about one, whom he hopes to see again if and when he should ever return to England.

East Point Junior Woman's Club will give another of a series of entertainments for soldiers at Fort McPherson from 9 until 12 o'clock

'License Game' Again Turns Up in Atlanta

Man, 50, Poses as Policeman, Asks Lunch Room for $20.

The old "license game" has turned up again in Atlanta, Police Lieutenant E. I. Hilderbrand, special investigator for Chief M. A. Hornsby, said last night.

A 50-year-old white man, posing as a city policeman, went to a lunchroom that opened Monday at 92 Broad street, S. W., and demanded $20 for a permit to operate, Lieutenant Hilderbrand said.

Mrs. W. O. McDaniel, wife of the owner, told the man he would have to come back later and called police headquarters. She described him as being "about 50 years of age, tall and heavy set."

The police committee does inspect new lunchstands before permits are issued, Lieutenant Hilderbrand said, but the committee makes no charge. Licenses are obtained from the city clerk.

LOST EAGLE—This action shot shows the British aircraft carrier Eagle, which the Admiralty admitted last night had been lost in the Mediterranean. The 22,600-ton craft has just passed beneath the plane and is headed toward the horizon at high speed. Rescue figures indicated that practically all personnel aboard the carrier were saved after four torpedoes sent the warship to the bottom.

The Rains Came; Mild Weather, Too

Temperatures for the week as a whole were much more moderate than during the past week and rainfall occurred more frequently in Georgia, according to the Atlanta office of the United States Department of Commerce Weather Bureau.

The rains came in substantial enough amounts to give most places weekly totals of 1.00 to 1.50 inches or more. However, only a few light showers fell in southeastern counties, particularly near the coast, where more rain is needed.

Most of the state found soil well supplied with moisture, much to the benefit of all growing crops and vegetation.

BEAT THE HEAT

Beat the heat with cooling, soothing Mexican Heat Powder. Chases away heat rash on babies and grownups. It's a real medicated powder with a vegetable base. Like millions of tiny sponges, soaks up moisture likely to cause irritation. Relieves and helps prevent dry skin. Not a talc. Costs but a few cents. Big savings in the large size. Demand Mexican Heat Powder.

G. V. Cunningham, 4-H Leader University Staff Member, Gives Support to Talmadge

G. V. Cunningham, beloved former 4-H Club Leader and member of the University of Georgia staff, announced today his active support of Governor Talmadge.

Mr. Cunningham was connected with the Extension Service of the University of Georgia as leader of 4-H Club work for 32 years, during which time thousands of farm boys and girls came to know and love him. As a needed service to boys and girls of limited means, Mr. Cunningham established five homes where these boys and girls could live on a cooperative basis. The cost has never exceeded $15.00 per month including room and board, and less than that most of the time.

Mr. Cunningham says he feels that the real issues of this campaign that all Georgians should seriously consider before they cast a vote are:

1. Taxes that may be higher with the wrong man as Governor. Talmadge stands for no increase in taxes.

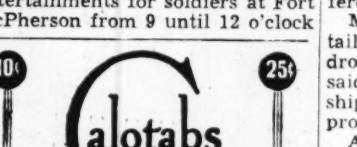

2. A man whose position on all vital questions can be known without pussy-footing or evasion.

3. A man who has a heart-felt interest in Agriculture. This is most vital now for both business men and farmers.

Governor Talmadge is a successful farmer and knows farm problems.

Giant Carnival Will Be Staged At Techwood

Celebration To Mark Sixth Anniversary of Opening.

Another giant carnival and street dance has been planned in celebration of the anniversary of the opening of Techwood Homes, the first government housing project in the nation.

Date of the big affair, marking the sixth anniversary, has been set for Saturday night, August 29. The custom was initiated in 1937 when a committee of tenants, with Leslie Kent acting as chairman, staged a party in the middle of Merriitts avenue. The profit to the Tenants Association from that first party was $36. Since then, they've added more games, introduced the street dance, and at the carnival last year—for it had grown to be just that—the committee netted $700.

The goal this year has been set at $1,000.

Between 25 and 30 concession stands are planned, including popcorn, peanuts, cotton candy, ice cream, candied apples, ball games, hot dogs, soda pop and all the trimmings that make up a big-time carnival. The big street dance, beginning at 9 o'clock, is expected to attract hundreds.

FINED—Don Mario, Providence, R. I., orchestra leader, was fined $500 by a musicians' union for making a "personal appearance" at a civic Fourth of July celebration without the union's permission. Mario said all he did was sing the "Star-Spangled Banner" with the rest of the crowd.

New Proposal Would Double School Funds

State Education To Receive $30,000,000 If Federal Bill Passes.

Dr. M. D. Collins, state school superintendent, yesterday said school systems of Georgia will receive approximately twice the money they now obtain from the state if the proposed $30,000,000 annual federal allocation for educational aid passes congress.

Emphasizing that the state now provides about $15,000,000 a year in revenue for city, county and independent school districts, and another $15,000,000 would be available annually under the federal proposal, Dr. Collins said present funds would be "just about doubled and all school systems, whether participating in state equalization funds or other state funds, would get assistance equal to about twice the amount now paid to the respective systems."

Lamar Ferguson, superintendent of Decatur schools, pointed out that the Decatur system is paid about $35,000 a year by the state, and that the figure would be doubled if present distribution plans become effective and the federal appropriation passes.

ONE-VARIETY WORK.

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 12.—More than a quarter million farmers in 550 counties of the nation are growing one-variety cotton. Over six million acres were planted by one-variety farmers last year. For Georgia, the Extension Service says acreage exceeded the half-million mark.

Suspended Policeman Will Face Trial Tonight

A. J. Mahs, supernumerary city policeman, is scheduled to face trial tonight by city council's police committee on charges of drinking and being disorderly on the streets. The committee will meet at 8 o'clock at the police station. When Mahs was suspended by Police Chief Hornsby and ordered to turn in his equipment, he failed to account for his pistol and that charge has been added to the first two. The grand jury has indicted him on charges of larceny after trust in connection with the loss of the pistol.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 12. The Negro man whose body was found beside the A. B. C. railroad near Dillon, seven miles from here, Monday, has been identified as that of George McMath, a partially deaf and dumb man well known around the city. Sheriff Dixon is probing his death.

'Navyator' Contest Closes Here Sunday Midnight—Rush Ideas

By FRANK DRAKE.

Step right up, folks! Unwind your brain and try your hand at the Navy's newest game—the War bond prize contest to name the four all-Atlanta "Navyator" squadrons being recruited here now.

Already, men, women and boys and girls—many of them have sent in their suggestions to Naval Aviation, Box 537, Atlanta, Ga., but there's room for more, any number more.

The contest closes at midnight Sunday so hurry and mail your idea right away. It costs you only a stamp but you might win first prize of one $25 War bond, or maybe second prize of $10 in War stamps, or perhaps you'll have the honor of grabbing off third or fourth prize—which amount to $7.50 and $5 in War stamps—respectively.

Four Words Long.

Anyway, whether you win or not, it'll be fun to join in and give the judges something to think about as they select the Atlanta-authored names which will be emblazoned on the speedy planes Atlanta boys will fly over the face of the earth—hunting down Germans and Japs, the enemies of freedom.

Think up your suggestion (or several of them) but be sure they are not over four words long. The winning names will bring honor to Atlanta—and to you.

Some folks want Atlanta's squadrons named after Bobby Jones, and some after the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech. Others want to name them after "Gone With the Wind," its characters and its author, Margaret Mitchell. Still others suggest appropriate names like the "Peachtree Pilots," the Amazing results shown in improving the looks... boosting vitality!

A truly marvelous change can be brought about in miserable digestive complaints, underweight, weakness, loss of appetite, by two important steps:

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD

If you are one of those unfortunate who have worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, have been vexed by overtaxing worries, or have suffered with colds, the flu, or other illness... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is what should help you!

SSS Tonic is especially designed to build up blood strength when deficient... and to promote those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... become animated... more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health in order that the Doctors may better serve our Fighting Forces

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. CS. S. S. Co.

Wiley Moore Builds Modern Flour Mill

Sparta, Ga., Aug. 12.—The modern flour mill, which has been under construction at Harris mill, near here, for several months, is about completed and will soon be thrown open for the use of Hancock farmers. Two new water wheels are being constructed so as to use the waters of Shouderbone creek to the greatest advantage and many improvements made at the old mill which has been a mill site for over 100 years.

The property is now owned by Wiley L. Moore, Atlanta capitalist, and he expects to encourage the planting of grain in this county so the mill can be kept busy and bring the farmers profits. Flour, meal and chicken feed will be ground.

Dr. Edward Mackay Speaks in Barnesville

Sparta, Ga., Aug. 12.—Dr. Edward Mackay, of Atlanta, superintendent of one of the Atlanta Methodist districts, addressed members of the Barnesville Rotary Club here today. Dr. Mackay listed as the four main causes of the present World War: 1, nationalism; 2, racialism; 3, imperialism; 4, secularism.

He was introduced by the Rev. W. Rembert Sisson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Barnesville and chairman of the international service committee of the Rotary Club.

Wives Cram Boxes To Send To Husbands

The board was paper, weighing little.

Cast your imagination around this "shoe box," add in these things Dr. Feder dispatched to her husband, and see if you'll believe it can be done: Tennis shoes, two pair wool socks, a sweater, a wind-breaker, several suits of underwear, the chess board and men, tooth brushes and tooth powder, shaving brush, razor, shaving soap, a large store of high-powered vitamin pills, a can of tobacco, a pipe, and some other things, too.

"Every bit of space in that box was filled," Dr. Feder said. "When they open it to inspect the contents, I just know they never will be able to get all the stuff back in again."

She took the wrappings off everything. Now she's positive hubby's pipe is going to taste like shaving soap for some time to come, but no man separated from his pipe and tobacco as long as this lieutenant has been will give a whoop about a little innocent soap taste in his smoke.

Neither Mrs. Davis nor Mrs. Tharin have heard from their husbands since they were captured by the Japs, but Dr. Feder has been luckier.

Once his name was mentioned on the radio as being safe though captured, but her real luck she owes to Bob Burns, the radio comedian.

Record of Broadcast.

Back in May Lieutenant Feder spoke over the Tokyo radio at 10 a. m. (our time), and gave his name, his wife's name, and said he was well and safe. Bob Burns recorded that message on a record and sent it to Dr. Feder. She also got about 50 letters from persons all over the country who heard the record.

"But I'll bet I've played 'that record over 1,000 times," she asserted.

Mrs. Davis is the mother of a baby boy, James Joseph Davis III, who was born after Mrs. Davis came back to the States from the theater of war. The baby's father doesn't even know he is a father.

Mrs. Davis parceled up wearing apparel and such for her husband and got her box off last week. (All the boxes were sent through the mails free of charge.) The War Department listed the types of items the wives could send, and Mrs. Tharin included just as many of them in her box as she could. But she sent her husband something special besides.

When he got captured, the only razor he had was electric. She sent him a handpowered one to mow off his whiskers.

Hancock Man Buys $10,000 War Bond

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

SPARTA, Ga., Aug. 12.—Leon B. Rives, USDA chairman of Hancock county, purchased $10,000 worth of war bonds yesterday and challenged T. R. Breeding, of the state office in Athens, to do likewise. It appears that Mr. Breeding has been urging Mr. Rives to encourage the sale of more bonds in this county so he decided to buy more than the month's quota himself.

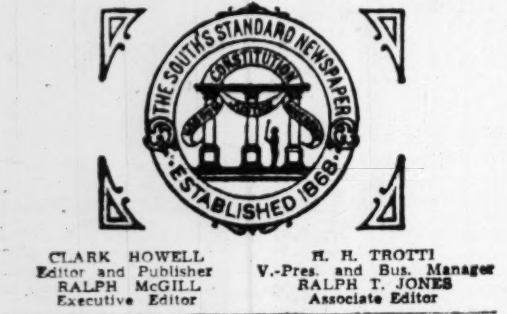

Mr. Rives had already purchased quite a large amount of bonds during the past few months, in addition to those bought yesterday and he plans to buy more from time to time. He is a Hancock county farmer, son of the late George S. Rives, one of the county's wealthiest citizens before his death several years ago.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 13, 1942.

Freedom's Pledge

One year ago, on August 14, 1941, President Roosevelt and Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill signed what has come to be known as the Atlantic Charter. The signing took place somewhere in the North Atlantic, on board a battleship where the two leaders of the world's two great democracies had met to discuss and adopt this pledge of ideals and war aims of the United Nations.

That charter will, from this date to come, be grouped with Magna Carta, with the French Declaration of Rights, with our own United States Constitution, as the inspired documents of liberty.

It is well for all of us to remember, to study, to learn and to adopt for ourselves each one of the clauses contained in the Atlantic Charter. So we can best know the objectives of our war for freedom, objectives to be sought after we have destroyed the menace against our own land and our own rights as free men and women.

The Charter is brief, containing but eight clauses. It is given, again, here, in the hope that all who read will memorize and learn to understand its guarantees and implications—its promise for a better future for all mankind.

The President of the United States of America and the Prime Minister, Mr. Churchill, representing His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, being met together, deem it right to make known certain common principles in the national policies of their respective countries on which they base their hopes for a better future for the world.

FIRST, Their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other; SECOND, They desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned;

THIRD, They respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them;

FOURTH, They will endeavor, with due respect for their existing obligations, to further the enjoyment by all States, great or small, victor or vanquished, of access, on equal terms, to the trade and to the raw materials of the world which are needed for their economic prosperity;

FIFTH, They desire to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing, for all, improved labor standards, economic adjustment and social security;

SIXTH, After the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny, they hope to see established a peace which will afford to all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries, and which will afford assurance that all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want;

SEVENTH, Such a peace should enable all men to traverse the high seas and oceans without hindrance;

EIGHTH, They believe that all of the nations of the world, for realistic as well as spiritual reasons, must come to the abandonment of the use of force. Since no future peace can be maintained if land, sea or air armaments continue to be employed by nations which threaten, or may threaten, aggression outside of their frontiers, they believe, pending the establishment of a wider and permanent system of general security, that the disarmament of such nations is essential. They will likewise aid and encourage all other practicable measures which will lighten for peace-loving peoples the crushing burden of armaments.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, WINSTON S. CHURCHILL.

WE MUST EARN VICTORY!

Picture To See

Even if you are not a regular movie patron, put down a date in your book for September 18 or thereafter. On September 18 there will begin distribution in theaters all over the country of a film every American should see.

The film is the government's own version of the war—a document supplemented by German and Jap propaganda movies that missed their destinations and ended up in the hands of Uncle Sam. The film is called "The World at War" and is a record of the decade climaxed by Pearl Harbor. It pulls no punches. It deals with the facts of life. In short, it tells the truth.

When so many seek escape films and literature at a time when the nation is fighting for its existence, this film should serve its purpose doubly well. It should make plain the nature of the present struggle, to all.

WE MUST EARN VICTORY!

Looking back, one begins to realize how truly insufferable Billy Mitchell must have been

—being right all the time, and at the top of the voice.

Unwitting Giveaway

If theories advanced by radio manufacturers are correct, it is probable that a fair proportion of merchant ship sinkings along the Atlantic coast have been unwittingly caused by members of the ships' crews themselves.

It is stated by these manufacturers that many types of radio receiving sets also send out, or broadcast, through the oscillations of tubes, signals of such strength that they may be picked up at distances of 100 miles or more. It is thus possible for the enemy submarine, lying in wait, to locate the merchant ship and then easily stalk its prey.

The Federal Communications Commission has forbidden use of such radio receivers on all American ships of 1,000 tons or more. Also, whenever found, personal radio receivers have been taken away from seamen as they boarded ship. Nevertheless it is believed that some crew members, probably believing the radio receiver ban was nothing but an example of red tape or unnecessary restriction, have smuggled small receivers on board. Then, listening to ordinary radio programs, they have unwittingly led an enemy submarine right to their ship and had it torpedoed under them.

If this is true, some method should be worked out to effectively keep all such radio receivers off the ships and some means of teaching all crew members the danger should be adopted.

Private Clark Gable

Clark Gable has enlisted in the Army of the United States as a private. In that simple fact lies all the symbolism of American democracy and of the democratic organization of her Army.

Clark Gable, hero of countless sagas of the screen has, at his own request, been accepted as just one more of the millions of American men in the ranks of her fighting forces. He has requested training as an aerial gunner. He has but one desire, a desire shared by all the real men of America. That is to be able to pour bullets into enemy planes, the planes that rained hideous death upon so many defenseless cities, so many helpless women and children.

Gable wants no fuss and feathers. He doesn't want merely to sell bonds or appear at "pink teas." He wants to be a real soldier, doing his share alongside other Americans, alongside the erstwhile clerks and farm laborers, the mechanics and truck drivers, the great cross-section of American manhood that now wears the fighting uniforms of the nation.

Gable has been the most popular masculine idol of the screen.

It is safe to say he never played a role so popular with the entire nation as the real life role he assumes as he dons the Army uniform of a private soldier—just one more in the ranks.

And his enlistment should serve mightily as example to others.

President Paty

Election of Dr. Raymond R. Paty as president of the University of Alabama was a matter of intense interest to many Atlantans. For those Atlantans know Dr. Paty as one of the south's greatest educators and as a man of exceptional personality and brilliant ability.

Dr. Paty was a member of the faculty of Emory University for eight years, serving there as dean of men. He took active part in the cultural life of Atlanta while here and contributed much to the advancement both of Emory University and of this city.

He has enjoyed a distinguished career in Tennessee, his native state, in Georgia and in Alabama. All Atlanta will now feel even closer to the University of Alabama than in the past and congratulates that institution on its wise choice of a new president.

Georgia Editors Say:

THE POLITICAL ISSUE. (From The Cobb County Times, Marietta.) The Augusta Chronicle asks, "Are the newspapers and newspapermen of Georgia running for Governor?"

The Chronicle calls attention to the attacks made on newspapers and individual newspapermen by Governor Talmadge: "In resorting to this shrewd trick to divert the citizens' attention from the real issue, he has failed to realize that this little sideshow can and will be dismissed by thoughtful persons."

"The newspapers of Georgia are merely attempting to give their readers a true picture of affairs in Georgia, and if this picture puts Eugene Talmadge in a bad light, as it does, this means that the press is simply carrying out its obligation to the public."

Henry L. Mencken, when he ran the American Mercury magazine, used to describe such politicians as Talmadge as "boob-thumpers." Not very flattering to those who vote for the Talmadges and Longs and Bilbos—but then, those gentlemen we named and others of their kind make it clear that they think all the people can be fooled all the time by boob-thumper tricks such as snapping red suspenders, attacks on newspapers, smokescreen issues with nothing behind them but the imagination of the politicians.

Newspapers try to tell the truth, and ninety-nine and nine-tenths of the time succeed in telling it, despite the opposition and hindrance of those whom the truth hurts. They have leaned over backwards to give Talmadge a chance to show his side—even when his side is simply an attack on those papers. The newspapers do not hope to govern the state. They do hope to have a Governor worthy of their state.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

HITLER'S MOTIVES. WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—In the light of what we have done since Pearl Harbor toward mobilizing our vast resources on an all-out war basis, it is more inconceivable than ever that Hitler should have deliberately contrived to force our entry into the conflict.

Why he did so will remain one of the great mysteries of the war. He himself has spoken. Nothing that has come out of Germany so far has shed any real light on the subject. Nothing that has happened since Pearl Harbor has justified the act from a standpoint of Axis military strategy.

Next to the German invasion of Russia, the effects of Pearl Harbor are now conceded to be Hitler's greatest blunder. No one has been able to offer a tenable hypothesis which would justify the results accomplished.

Before our forced entry into the war we had given our sympathies about 90 per cent to Great Britain and Russia, but we had no intention of becoming involved if it could possibly be avoided. The determination to stay out was legal staff asked for a dismissal on the ground that Brother Fay, a fine patriot, was indispensable in the prosecution of the war.

We had translated our sympathies into material aid to the Allies as an insurance against their downfall before the time when we were properly armed. The lease-lend program we had adopted to this end called for the expenditure of some 13 billion dollars. We had also given the British 50 of our World War No. 1 vintage destroyers in exchange for the right to build air bases on their Western Hemisphere possessions.

CHICKEN FEED. But all of this now assumes the proportions of chicken feed in comparison to what we have seen necessary to do since Pearl Harbor. Instead of the puny 13 billion dollars which we were furnishing the British and Russians in supplies before our entry, we are now embarked on a program calling for a 200-billion-dollar war expenditure, of which the Russians and the British and the Chinese will be more directly the beneficiaries than any aid we could have given under lease-lend.

The effect of our forced entry into the war was to transform us from a nation at peace, slowly but methodically building up our defenses, to a nation vitally alive to the realities of war. The million-and-a-half-man Army we were training under peace conditions has been stepped up to 5,000,000, with plans for extending it to 10,000,000 if the necessity arises.

And we are planning, as fast as our preparations permit, to send several millions of these men to Europe for collaboration with the British in opening up a second front which we are determined will smash Hitlerism forever and eternally.

Our peacetime industry, the greatest of any nation in the world, has been converted completely to a war footing. Before Pearl Harbor we were making perhaps a thousand planes a month. Now we are making 4,000. Next year, under the President's announced program, the number will be increased to more than 10,000 a month. A comparable number of guns and tanks and ships of all descriptions are being produced. The wizardry of American industrial genius has arisen to its full heights under the impetus of war.

Why Hitler could not have foreseen all of this and studiously avoided bringing us in is a mystery which only his weird mental machinations can explain. It was clearly within his power to keep us out indefinitely if he had chosen. So far as the Pacific is concerned, he could have accomplished the same purpose by having the Japs confine their attack there and not have drawn into the conflict by a Jap assault on Singapore and Australia if the Philippines and Hawaii had been left unmolested.

TOKYO OVERTURES. In an effort to prevent the war's spread to the Pacific, we had made strong overtures to Tokyo against starting anything in that sector, but this did not mean that we were prepared to intervene any more than we planned to become involved in Europe. It might have caused us to step up our lease-lend aid to the Allies. There is no reason to assume, however, that we would have been anywhere nearer getting into the war today than we were a year ago if the attack on us had been omitted.

The only suggested explanation is that Hitler foresaw our ultimate entry into the war and was stupid enough to believe that we could be knocked out by a sudden blow of treachery at Pearl Harbor. The only alternative to this is that he had a bloated conception of his own strength and a contemptuous regard for our potential power.

History will probably credit him with a stupid blunder on either score.

The damage done to our Navy at Pearl Harbor was only negligible, comparatively. Most of it has since been repaired. At its worst, it set us back only about six months. But even if our entire Navy had been destroyed at Hawaii the temporary gain to the Axis would not have been worth the price our entry into the war will ultimately cost them. In that case we merely would have set about to do what we are already actually doing—build another Navy, two or three of them, in fact.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

It Is Good To Be Back. Just in case you haven't missed it, let it be said at once that "Silhouettes" has been missing from this, its accustomed place in your morning paper, for the past ten weeks or so.

The reason? Well, they do not need to go into details, but a too-long stay in a hospital bed followed by weeks in the good old bed of home provide the answer.

Thank you. Rapidly getting back to normal now, at least in the physical condition is concerned.

Time To Reflect. Frankly I do not like confinement in a hospital, no matter how charming and attentive the nurses nor how efficient the operation of the place may be. There is something too depressing about a place where the chief interest is in sickness and where you are constantly aware that all around you, in the rooms, are men and women suffering in greater or less degree.

But it does provide opportunity for reflection. That is, after your own disability has progressed to the point where you are capable of reflecting on anything other than your own condition and recovery progress.

Of course, in or out of hospital, the one great subject of which we all think today is the war, and our part in it.

And I think quiet reflection, when you are physically unable to do anything else, does teach one lesson.

That is the lesson of patience. Not Your Responsibility. You see, when you are ill, you simply must place complete trust in the surgeon or physician in charge of your case. You don't know what is good for you, you are in a realm of which you know little or nothing.

All you can do is choose the best surgeon available and depend entirely upon him to restore you to health and strength. The result is out of your hands and you can only obey orders and leave the outcome to the doctor and to Providence.

It seemed to me, lying there contemplating the world and the war, that what we laymen need is something of the attitude of the patient to his doctor.

We have, at the head of our

Use At Will. NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—By way of starting this essay I will just set down such terms as drunken thug, underworld character and union racketeer and you can fit them into place at will as descriptive matter wherever you encounter the name of our subject, who is Joe Fay, a vice president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, a great power in the American Federation of Labor and an honored friend of William Green.

That will avoid repetition and speed up the story. When, a few months ago, Mr. Fay went into court in Syracuse, N. Y., to answer a felony indictment accusing him of booting in the face of H. Orville Warner, one of his union subordinates, his expensive legal staff asked for a dismissal on the ground that Brother Fay, a fine patriot, was indispensable in the prosecution of the war.

Mr. Warner, the complaining witness, had taken a run-out, obviously to oblige Brother Fay, descriptive matter wherever you encounter the name of our subject, who is Joe Fay, a vice president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, a great power in the American Federation of Labor and an honored friend of William Green.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

"BY HIS OWN WORDS." When he opened his last campaign, at Albany, Ga., Governor Eugene Talmadge raised his hand solemnly and said: "Any doctrine that preaches class hatred in Georgia is a sin of the deepest dye. Any doctrine that preaches prejudice is merely the doctrine of a hypocrite who is trying to hide under a shadow for the purpose of stealing."

No religious or racial prejudice has any place in a Christian heart."

He said that publicly and he published it in his newspaper. It was published on July 2, two days ahead of the speech on July 4, and copies were distributed at Albany. These paragraphs may be found on page three, being part of the speech continued from page one.

Once again I am gratified to find the Governor in complete agreement with me . . . and with the thousands in Georgia who have been saying that no racial or religious prejudice has any place in a Christian heart.

It is gratifying, too, that he himself believes that any doctrine that preaches prejudice is merely the doctrine of a hypocrite who is trying to "hide under a shadow for the purpose of stealing."

Those are the Governor's words. They are the words of the man who now sets up a cry that there is, and has been, an effort at racial coeducation; that white supremacy is at stake; that the racial issue is the chief one in this race. Let's see. What did he say about a man who would preach that sort of thing?

He said that "preaching class prejudice was a sin of the deepest dye—that it was the doctrine of a hypocrite who is trying to hide under a shadow for the purpose of stealing."

We had intended it for possible use against Senator Richard B. Russell. For some months his purpose was to run for the senate. The popularity of lend-lease and then the coming of the war with the attack on Pearl Harbor, made inadvisable any campaign against a popular senator with a splendid record of co-operation in the war effort.

So, he took the issue into the Governor's race. It is a real tragedy. The Governor said a year and a half ago that only a hypocrite would try to use a racial issue in Georgia.

He said at the same time any man who brought forth such an issue was committing a sin of the deepest dye. He said only those few months ago that any man using the racial issue was hiding beneath a shadow for the purpose of stealing.

Now he comes forth with such an issue and his own words of "sin" and "hypocrite" condemn it. The danger is, the greater tragedy is, that some of his men, in their zeal to do a job, have been urged on to try and create "incidents" of violence involving some Negro. That makes it the worse affront.

Georgia doesn't need all this prejudice. The south knows how to handle this question and will handle it without violence if the Governor and his more fanatical supporters will quit stirring it up.

THE REAL ISSUE. There are the real issues of this campaign. They are plain to all. They try to cover it up by trying to attach former Governor E. D. Rivers to it. They attack Atlanta newspapers and newspapermen, never mentioning that 74 weekly newspapers are supporting Ellis Arnall as against 10 for the Governor.

Newspapers and newspapermen are not the issue. The newspapers print the news and men and events make the news. Newspapers don't make or unmake elections. They merely present the news and issues for the people to read. They can, editorially, support a candidate and advocate his cause. All people, and newspapermen, should have opinions, pro or con.

The issues are important. Men are dying in the Solomon Islands in our present most important battle. I do not think they are dying to maintain the sort of issues which Governor Talmadge advances. It is not even good patriotism, with the example of India before us, to try and stir up racial hatreds and violence just for votes.

Think it out calmly and ask yourself if men are dying in the Solomon Islands, and in Alaska, to perpetuate the sort of government and issue which the Governor offers? What about your own boy and girl and their future in Georgia?

Ellis Arnall promises to take the schools out of politics and to let the teachers teach, under the state constitution and its guarantees. He promises dignified government, with no increase in taxes. He promises an abolition of the infamous pardon racket. Those are some of the issues.

Ask yourself the real questions.

For the Greatest Trial in Human History, Men Need Every Possible Support

By ROBERT QUILLLEN.

Man's life seems complicated and mysterious, yet all of his actions from the cradle to the grave are prompted by half a dozen motives. Chief of these is the desire for the good opinion of his fellows.

When he strives to excel and become a somebody, he is prompted by his hunger for approval. His table manners, his speech, his choice of clothing, his cleanliness, his striving for knowledge, his moral conduct, even his politics and religion are in some measure the result of his need for the good opinion of his neighbors.

Public opinion is the final dominant power in every land because people fear it. A few heroic souls may dare to stand against the multitude, but the great majority are conformists because they cannot bear disapproval.

Politicians, authors, entertainers, businessmen and such strive to win the good opinion of the whole public, but most of us are more affected by the opinion of special groups. Social climbers, for example, are most interested in the opinion of the social elect. Scientists care only for the approval of brother scientists. Youngsters at a certain period court the approval of those they consider sophisticated.

Thus certain groups have influence out of all proportion to their numbers. And among these is the clergy. Millions of young men are now being trained for the business of killing. And because they must face dreadful dangers, they are thinking more seriously than ever before.

They do without hesitation whatever is required of them. They have the hearty approval of the public. But even though they have the approval of their own consciences, many are troubled in their souls by doubts and questions.

Who can remove their doubts and give them final approval and inspire them with the conviction that all they do is done in righteousness for the glory of God? Even if they are free of all doubts, who can give them the fearless and exalted spirit that armors the souls of men who know they battle for the Lord?

In all the world there is only one group that professes to have the authority and ability to provide this spiritual comfort and this assurance of God's approval.

If our boys are fighting and dying to save Christian civilization, it is their right to heed the voice of the church saying in benediction: "Well done, good and faithful servant."

OFF THE RECORD—By Ed Reed

Dudley Glass

In a most pleasant comment on this column by Dr. Wightman F. Melton in the Griffin Daily News, the genial editor and poet refers to me as a "hillbilly from east Tennessee."

I do not resent being called a hillbilly. But to keep the record straight for future biographers—who are not yet besieging me for data—I ask that that east Tennessee canard be eliminated.

Your columnist is a web foot from the mud flats of west Tennessee. There is as much difference as there is between an Apache and a Scandinavian.

You must know, as the Victorian writers prefaced a narrative about their careers, that Tennessee, like Caesar's Gaul, is divided into three parts. I'd quote the Latin except I've forgotten it. As I did in school.

West Tennessee, which had the honor of giving me birth, is a low lying (no smart cracks, please) region bordering the Mississippi and containing numerous fishing spots, such as Reelfoot Lake, the state asylum for the insane and Boss Crump's Memphis. I must confess I know little of my native land for I was removed from there before I achieved my first pants and became a member of the orange groves in Florida. Which froze solid in their first bearing season and thrust me into a world which was slow to appreciate my talents.

Middle Tennessee, which contains Nashville and Columbia and other fair cities, is a bluegrass. It raises horses, runners, trotters and jockeys and even the Tennessee walking horse, which has attracted so much attention in sports columns recently. It was there that I attained my majority and received my inheritance—principally my father's highly decorated mustache cup (for sipping coffee without dunking a mustache), an Episcopal prayerbook inscribed by Bishop Quintard and a deed to 500 acres of valuable land which once had bordered the Mississippi, but had long, by some vagary of that nomadic stream, been in—or under—the middle of it. I assume it is still there, but I have never practiced diving.

Snooty Aristocrats

Middle Tennessee, home of Andrew Jackson and other bold pioneers, looks with scorn on west Tennessee and with loathing upon east Tennessee. Or did. Its attitude may have changed since my cub days on the Nashville Banner.

East Tennessee—and I make haste to explain I am speaking in the past tense and reflecting the opinions of oldtimers of Nashville and not my own—was looked upon in my time as the home of mountaineers with hairy ears, long-barreled squirrel rifles, home-made chawin' tobacco and a white moonshine that would cause a tumblebug to lean up against a cotton bale and cry: "Start rolling, big boy."

Worse than that, east Tennessee was infested by black Republicans. I do not mean Ethiopians or their descendants. There were few of them. But in my youth all Republicans were black, just as all Yankees were damn. Our principal objection was that there were too many of them. Indeed, they carried the state elections occasionally.

Another reason for this attitude of the Blue Grass aristocrats was that the east Tennessee mountains had largely been populated by men who refused to fight for the Confederacy. Owning no slaves, they saw no reason why they should fight to protect slavery. Expeditions frequently were sent to show them the light but something always happened to them.

In case Al Sharp, a native Chattanooga, happens to read this column and take umbrage, I use this paragraph to go on record that I esteem east Tennessee most highly. Al weighs around 200 pounds on the hoof and is always in good condition. Let me state that Knoxville, capital of the mountains, is the seat of the University of Tennessee and the home of culture, and the scenery thereabout is helpfully equalled and never excelled.

Helped Build Atlanta

But Atlanta, my home for some 36 years, has no reason to scorn east Tennessee. After the War Between the States the hardy east Tennesseans moved down and helped build up what Sherman had burned.

There was a saying in Nashville that an east Tennessean, dead broke and marooned on an island with three Scots and a couple of Jews, would so outtrade them that when rescue arrived he would be affluent and well on the road to fortune while his companions would be forced to borrow garments before appearing on deck.

I cannot speak for that, but I have been told by regretful oldtimers in Atlanta that east Tennesseans were hard to cheat, no matter how hard you tried.

The Innans, I am told, came

Your Columnist Corrects the Record For Posterity

down, like the little black bear, from the mountains, to accumulate wealth and take leadership in building a city. So did Capt. Jim English, who founded what is now the First National Bank. So did Colonel Bob Lowry, that lovable old soul with the white moustaches (when I knew him) who also started a bank. They were scores of others. No available records reveal that any of them ever starved to death—and Atlanta's street names have given them immortality which shall be eternal—unless the city council decides to change the corner signs to names of heroes of World War II. Maybe east Tennessee isn't so bad as I was brought up to believe. Folks I have met up there walked on their hind legs, sent their sons and daughters to college, preferred a mint julep to white lightning out of a gourd, thought Roosevelt was doing the best job he knew how—and hoped for a day when they could vote Republican again with a clear conscience.

East Tennesseans are all right—if you don't try to outtrade them. I didn't. But then, being a west Tennessean, I didn't have anything to trade.

Good Morning

SENATE BILL 1313. Last week I undertook to briefly set forth the salient point in the pending Senate Bill 1313, which proposes to provide $300,000,000 from federal funds for public school education in an effort to equalize educational opportunities throughout the nation. I went on to say that I doubted the wisdom of the federal government entering the field of general public education—that the public school system had been developed under local and state support and supervision, and that it seems to me an unwise course to start in the direction of what may eventually become national control of our public school system.

I have a letter from an outstanding public school executive in Atlanta in which he very ably states some cogent reasoning favorable to the bill. I regret that this space will not permit publishing his entire letter, but, fortunately, for me, he summarizes his argument at the close of his letter, and I am going to pass on that summary in the hope that it fairly expresses this gentleman's opinion: "(1) Federal aid has not been accompanied by objectionable federal control. Some 25 years' experience with the operation of the Smith-Hughes law by which the government gives direct aid to public schools has shown the government to be scrupulous in respecting the rights of the local school system. "(2) The present bill carries the specific assurance that the federal government shall not interfere in local management. The extent to which successful appropriations would be guided would depend largely upon the extent to which public opinion considers local control more efficient than federal control. "(3) Dangers of federal control are coming not from congressionally appropriated appropriations but through the courts, which have ruled in effect that there must be no discrimination on account of race between salaries paid the teachers in public schools. If the principles of discrimination should be extended as construed and applied in certain decisions of the courts, the federal government could exercise absolute control not only over salaries, which means financial control, but over school buildings, textbooks, the curriculum and practically every phase of the public school system. Whether wise or unwise, federal control is coming as far as it has come thus far over this route. "(4) Education is the concern of the entire nation. The wealthy sections are as vitally involved in the education or lack of education of the poorest child of the poorest community as of that community itself. The future of financial support must be widened. "(5) This is not introducing a new principle, but a continuation of the trend begun when the local district school merged with the county system and the county system with the state. Each succeeding merger or widening horizon has been accompanied by criticism and disadvantages. But in general the result has been good. "I am grateful for this five-point statement, or argument, of this outstanding educator. It was in the hope that I might have two columns last week. My good friend does not convince me that it would be wise to adopt Senate Bill 1313, but he does help me to more clearly understand the proposition. It will be recalled that the eminent jurist from whom I quoted last week made the very point, which the educator admits, namely, that once this bill is enacted and the funds are distributed, the courts may extend control of the public school system indefinitely. One other question might be raised as we think about this matter, namely, Where is good money to come from? Consider our present debt.

I have a letter from an outstanding public school executive in Atlanta in which he very ably states some cogent reasoning favorable to the bill. I regret that this space will not permit publishing his entire letter, but, fortunately, for me, he summarizes his argument at the close of his letter, and I am going to pass on that summary in the hope that it fairly expresses this gentleman's opinion: "(1) Federal aid has not been accompanied by objectionable federal control. Some 25 years' experience with the operation of the Smith-Hughes law by which the government gives direct aid to public schools has shown the government to be scrupulous in respecting the rights of the local school system. "(2) The present bill carries the specific assurance that the federal government shall not interfere in local management. The extent to which successful appropriations would be guided would depend largely upon the extent to which public opinion considers local control more efficient than federal control. "(3) Dangers of federal control are coming not from congressionally appropriated appropriations but through the courts, which have ruled in effect that there must be no discrimination on account of race between salaries paid the teachers in public schools. If the principles of discrimination should be extended as construed and applied in certain decisions of the courts, the federal government could exercise absolute control not only over salaries, which means financial control, but over school buildings, textbooks, the curriculum and practically every phase of the public school system. Whether wise or unwise, federal control is coming as far as it has come thus far over this route. "(4) Education is the concern of the entire nation. The wealthy sections are as vitally involved in the education or lack of education of the poorest child of the poorest community as of that community itself. The future of financial support must be widened. "(5) This is not introducing a new principle, but a continuation of the trend begun when the local district school merged with the county system and the county system with the state. Each succeeding merger or widening horizon has been accompanied by criticism and disadvantages. But in general the result has been good. "I am grateful for this five-point statement, or argument, of this outstanding educator. It was in the hope that I might have two columns last week. My good friend does not convince me that it would be wise to adopt Senate Bill 1313, but he does help me to more clearly understand the proposition. It will be recalled that the eminent jurist from whom I quoted last week made the very point, which the educator admits, namely, that once this bill is enacted and the funds are distributed, the courts may extend control of the public school system indefinitely. One other question might be raised as we think about this matter, namely, Where is good money to come from? Consider our present debt.

SENATE BILL 1313. Last week I undertook to briefly set forth the salient point in the pending Senate Bill 1313, which proposes to provide $300,000,000 from federal funds for public school education in an effort to equalize educational opportunities throughout the nation. I went on to say that I doubted the wisdom of the federal government entering the field of general public education—that the public school system had been developed under local and state support and supervision, and that it seems to me an unwise course to start in the direction of what may eventually become national control of our public school system.

SENTENCED—William Dudley Pelley, left, founder and leader of the Silver Shirts of America, was sentenced to serve 15 years in prison by a federal court at Indianapolis. Pelley was convicted of sedition in the first major sedition case tried since the U. S. entered World War II. Escorting Pelley into the court is Deputy Marshal Beck.

Pelley Draws Prison Term Of 15 Years Hostile Motive

Secretary Gets Suspended Sentence, Brown 5 Years.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—William Dudley Pelley, spruce little goateed founder of the Silver Shirts of America, only shook his head in federal court today when asked if he had anything to say in his own behalf and then drew a 15-year prison sentence on charges of criminal sedition.

"I don't know how long the war will last," Judge Robert C. Baltzell said in pronouncing the penalty, "but the sentence should be such that we will be assured that no further harm will be done for the duration."

Pelley's secretary and co-defendant, Miss Agnes Marian Henderson, sobbed out a promise to disassociate herself from the Pelley activities and received a two-year suspended sentence. Lawrence A. Brown, associated with Pelley in his Noblesville, Ind., publishing firm, Fellowship Press, Inc., was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and the firm itself was fined $5,000.

All were convicted a week ago—Pelley on 11 counts and Brown and Miss Henderson each on one count of conspiracy—in the government's first major sedition case since Pearl Harbor. The government charged that Pelley's writings hindered the war effort, were similar to Axis propaganda and interfered with operation of the selective service act.

Pelley could have been sentenced to 20 years in prison and fined $10,000 on each count, but Judge Baltzell said he preferred "to consider it one offense." No fines were levied except on the publishing firm.

Gable several weeks ago confided with Army officials that he was not seeking a commission, Major James F. Brower, recruiting branch executive officer here, quoted Gable as saying: "What do I want to be a major for? I don't know beans about the Army. I want to start right at the bottom."

The major scotched a suggestion that Gable, six feet plus and weighing more than 170, was too big for a gunner. "He's not too large for the rear of a bomber," the officer said. "It takes a big man to handle one of those guns."

Release of Story, Photos on Markers Under Investigation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Characterizing the supposed "enemy ground markers" described in a recent release by the first air force as being without "hostile motive," the head of the Army's eastern defense command said today the release was under investigation and action would be taken with regard to those responsible.

Lieutenant General Hugh A. Drum, the commanding general in the eastern region, declared the "dropped" as having no bearing on national defense.

Drum added "the responsibility and the reasons for the release of the photographs and the story are now under investigation and appropriate action will be taken in due time."

Photographs taken from Army observation planes, showing sacks of grain stacked in a field in the form of the figure nine with the tail of the figure reportedly pointing to an aircraft plant, and plowed fields or clearings shaped like arrows pointing to defense plants and air fields, were released with a story from Mitchell Field for newspaper use on Monday morning.

"The inference was drawn that these ground signs were guides to assist enemy airplanes and were the work of enemy agents," General Drum said in his statement. "The three cases included in the story released were recorded in March of this year."

"Following normal intelligence procedure, investigations were made with the cooperation of the War Department to determine if any of the incidents in question."

Drum's announcement came a day after the War Department in Washington said the story "may be untrue."

Export-Import Bank Grants Mexico Loan

$6,000,000 To Be Used for Building Steel Plant.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Export-Import Bank granted a $6,000,000 credit to Mexico today for construction of a steel plant, and Dr. Ramon Beteta, Mexican undersecretary of finance, hailed the action as "symbolic of a new epoch in the relations between our two countries."

Dr. Beteta with Antonio Espinosa de los Monteros, director general of the National Financiera S. A., of Mexico, signed the contract for the loan with Warren Lee Pierson, president of the Export-Import Bank, and newswire photographs recorded the scene.

Jesse Jones, Secretary of Commerce and Federal Loan Administrator, and Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador, were interested spectators.

Called Symbolic. "The contract we have just signed," said Dr. Beteta, "is symbolic of a new epoch in the relations between our two countries."

"It signifies closer co-operation. On the part of Mexico it means that we are doing our part in the production of steel, a material which are needed for the common defense. On the part of the United States it means that country is giving us the credit to go ahead with an industry in Mexico. I, as a Mexican, and as a secretary of finance, am very happy about the successful completion of the negotiations which materialized in the contract just signed."

The loan, for the proposed Alton Hornos steel plant at Monclova, State of Coahuila, Mexico, carries out tentative agreements reached in the overall settlement of Mexican-United States problems and implemented during the visit here last winter of Dr. Ezequiel Padilla, Mexican foreign minister.

Expresses Thanks. "I want to take this opportunity to express publicly my appreciation to Mr. Warren Lee Pierson, president of the Export-Import Bank, for his splendid co-operation, his friendly attitude which made this deal possible," Dr. Beteta continued, "to Mr. Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, whose presence gave a special significance to this occasion, to our ambassador who also was kind enough to come and witness the signature, and to my friend, Antonio Espinosa de los Monteros, who more than anybody else has been working hard on this transaction."

Espinosa de los Monteros, who came to Washington especially for the negotiations, left early tonight by train for Mexico City.

The agreement reached today also lifted restrictions on expenditure of the $30,000,000 credit previously extended for construction of the Inter-American highway between Mexico City and the Guatemala border to allow more speedy completion of the route.

Air Transport Deal Signed by 8 Companies

Commercial Lines Enter Contract With Transport Command.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The War Department announced today that agreements between the Air Transport Command and eight commercial air lines had completed mobilization of the nation's entire air transport industry to speed delivery of supplies and personnel to the war fronts.

The companies represented in the new agreements, made with Brigadier General Harold L. George, commanding the Air Transport Command, were Continental Air Lines, Colonial Air Lines, Chicago & Southern Air Lines, Delta Air Lines, Inland Air Lines, Mid-Continent Air Lines, National Air Lines and Pennsylvania Central Air Lines. Nine other companies already had signed agreements to participate in the international transport operations of the Army, operating military planes by contract with the Transport Command.

The plan for expansion of this service calls for immediate assignment of substantial numbers of additional aircraft to the air lines by the Army Air Forces, the department said. Present commercial schedules of the air lines will not be affected, but will be continued under the private management of the companies.

Health in Britain Improving Despite War, Georgian Finds

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(P)—Dr. V. P. Sydenstricker, of the University of Georgia, reported today that after five months of research on Britain's wartime dietary deficiencies, he found that "apparently there is less malnutrition, especially among workers and children, than before the war."

Speaking at a press conference, he attributed the improvement to elimination of food distribution through rationing, supplementary feeding in schools, and "the amazingly efficient work" of the ministries of health and food in teaching people to make the most of available foodstuffs.

Simultaneously the ministry of health reported substantial decreases in the most prevalent infectious diseases in England and Wales during the first seven months of this year compared with 1941.

The most striking decreases, it said, were in enteric fevers, of which there were only 531 cases in seven months this year, compared with 2,539 in seven months of 1941 and 709 in 1939 before the war; and poliomyelitis, with 186 cases compared with 265 in the comparable 1941 period and 179 in 1939. The incidence of cerebrospinal fever was cut nearly in half, but even more impressive was reduction of the death rate to as low as 5 per cent in service hospitals, the report said.

Jacob Schurman Is Dead at 88

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(P)—Jacob Gould Schurman, 88, former ambassador to Germany and former president of Cornell University, died today at Memorial hospital.

He was in Berlin from 1925 to December, 1929, when he retired. He also was United States minister to China from 1920 to 1924. In 1899 Schurman was named by President McKinley as head of the first Philippine commission and helped draw up the original charter.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 4 p. m. at St. Matthews church in Bedford, Westchester county, with burial in the church cemetery.

... The Basket Market

Raisins for "raisin" the Army's morale soon will absorb the entire crop of Thompson white seedless grapes, the supply of which will dribble out in the next couple of weeks. Emperor and Tokay brands, much later grapes, will finally heal the breach in the grape market along about Thanksgiving time.

Although green merchandise in general is scarce, there are exceptions to prove the rule in the form of new cabbage, at the low price level of three pounds for 10 cents, and jumbo green peppers for stuffing, three for 10 cents. The Georgia pear market, just opening, will be going strong throughout August and part of September.

The meat market remains short. However, one or two items are of rather outstanding value. Canadian bacon, which can be baked like a ham, is selling for 53 cents a pound, in pieces, and 60 cents a pound, sliced. Bacon, at 37 cents a pound, and pig liver, at 25 cents a pound, are fairly plentiful.

John W. Hardy Missing Here Since Last Friday

Atlanta police have been requested to help locate John W. Hardy, 58, of 230 Hawthorne avenue, College Park, who disappeared last Friday.

Hardy left home to report to the Georgia state employment office, records show.

When last seen, he was wearing a brown hat, a striped shirt and brown striped trousers. He weighs 192 pounds, is five feet, eight inches tall, has blue eyes and ruddy complexion.

Two Comedies, Gangster Film On Movie Menu

Drama of the Skies Also Included in Week's Offerings.

Drama of the skies and the underworld, two comedies and two hold-overs make up the weekend changes in theater entertainment beginning today and tomorrow.

"Wings for the Eagle," a story of the aircraft industry and "Big Shot," a tale of gangland, starring Humphrey Bogart, hold top billing. "Friendly Enemies," a World War I stage comedy, and "Tish," Gary Roberts Rinehart's story, complete the new fare. "Crossroads" will hold at the Rhodes and "Footlight Serenade" will move to the Capitol.

Roxy
Humphrey Bogart returns to his old underworld haunts as a full-fledged gangster in Warner Bros. new action picture, "Big Shot," which opens tomorrow at the Roxy theater. Pretty Irene Manning makes her screen debut in this picture.

"Bogart plays the role of a three-time convicted criminal who tries to go straight, but is finally goaded into being the 'brains' in a plan to stick-up an armored car. Irene plays the part of a girl who is in love with Bogart. She tries at the point of a gun to keep him from going through with the crime. Bogart is convicted, however, and how he gets revenge provides an exciting climax.

Rialto
Adapted from a World War I stage play, "Friendly Enemies," starring Charles Winninger, and Charlie Ruggles, a comedy which revolves around the lives of two ex-Germans who live in New York, plays its first engagement at the Rialto theater today.

Wininger is seen in the role of an Americanized German who can't forget his homeland. Ruggles, another German, brings Winninger over to the American way of life, though it takes 21 fist fights to do it. James Craig and Nancy Kelly, young lovers who are caught in the midst of war, provides the romantic interest for the comedy.

Rhodes
"Crossroads," starring William Powell and Hedy Lamarr, moves to the Rhodes theater today for a second week's engagement.

Set in Paris before the war, "Crossroads" concerns itself with an attempt on the part of two international gangsters to pin an old murder on a French diplomat, William Powell.

Powell, inspired by Miss Lamarr, resorts to his old "Thin Man" tricks and turns the tables on the crooks.

out the fighting planes for Uncle Sam's army and navy. "Wings for the Eagle," starring Ann Sheridan and Dennis Morgan, opens tomorrow at the Fox theater.

The story, set in the giant Lockheed Aviation plant, tells of how a cocky young fellow gets a job in the factory to escape the draft. His attitude changes when Pearl Harbor is bombed.

Ann plays the role of a pretty young girl who is torn between the loves of two men.

Loew's Grand

"Tish," Gary Roberts Rinehart's famous fiction character which has been made into a movie with Marjorie Main in the title role, comes to Loew's Grand theater today. Zasu Pitts, Guy Kibbee, Lee Bowman, Virginia Gray and Susan Peters are in minor roles.

"Tish" is a lovable character who lives with her nephew. She is constantly meddling in his romantic affairs. The film presents many comical situations. One of the best probably is when Zasu Pitts shoots an apple off the head of Guy Kibbee. Then again, Miss Main is treed by a tame bear.

Axis Launches Raider, U-Boat Drive in South

Campaign in Atlantic Already Under Way, British Report.

By DREW MIDDLETON.
LONDON, Aug. 12.—(P)—Indications that the Axis is starting a strong surface-raider and submarine campaign in the South Atlantic were reported by informed British naval sources today while the Germans said a great British convoy was now under attack in the Western Mediterranean.

The British admiralty announced loss of the 22,600-ton aircraft carrier Eagle in the Mediterranean and said at least one enemy submarine operating in the same area already had been sunk, but did not refer to a convoy attack. The Germans, reporting they sank the Eagle Tuesday with four torpedos, said she was a member of the convoy escort, which included the bulk of the British Mediterranean fleet and was en route east from Gibraltar.

The Italians claimed they had hit another warship in convoy. The Eagle, started in 1913 as a battleship for Chile, finally was completed as a British aircraft carrier in 1924. In peacetime she carried 748 men and 21 planes. The admiralty announced tonight that 930 survivors had been accounted for thus far, including Captain L. D. Mackintosh, the commander. This was the fifth carrier lost since the war began.

United Nations Fair To Open September 25

Theme of Southeastern's Affair This Year Is 'Toast to Victory.'

Final plans for a "United Nations" Southeastern Fair with a war-time flavor were made yesterday by Mike Benton, president, and the directors of the fair association. The fair will be held September 25 through October 4. The theme of the 1942 version of the Southeastern Fair will be "Toast to Victory," Benton explained as he and Ivan Allen, chairman of the board, declared the fair is directly in line with Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard's slogan "Food for Victory," and that public transportation facilities are adequate. All the agricultural exhibits will be there, but this year, instead of the commercial exhibits, the Bell bomber plant's training school for employees will be thrown open to the public. Ambassadors of several important Allied Nations are to be invited to attend the fair and Benton said Ambassador Litvinoff had assured him Russian military attaches with interpreters will be present on "Russia Day."

23 Crewmen Die as Dutch Ship Is Blasted

14 Men Rescued When Merchant Vessel Sinks in 3 Minutes.

AN EAST COAST PORT, Aug. 12.—(P)—Twenty-three crewmen were killed when a small Dutch merchantman was blasted to the bottom of the Atlantic off the east coast of South America by one torpedo last July 24.

Only 14 men, including one of the two gunners, were saved. One of the survivors, First Officer Arien Vlam, of Holland, said the men were caught in lifeboats half-lowered from the decks when the merchant vessel plunged beneath the waves.

Vlam said the single torpedo struck his vessel amidships as he was being relieved on the bridge by Third Officer P. Rook, of Holland, at 8 p. m. In exactly three minutes, the ship cracked in the middle and plunged down.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rar! to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

Boy Scouts To Get Aviation Training

MACON, Ga., Aug. 12.—(P)—The Central Georgia Boy Scout Council soon will appoint an air Scout commissioner to carry out the new national program of aviation training.

There will be no flight training under the program, emphasis being placed on preflight ground training, and on the building of model planes. Special merit badges have been designed for Scouts completing the courses.

RAMSEY TO SPEAK

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 12.—Ralph Ramsey, of Atlanta, secretary of Georgia Education Association, will address the student body of Georgia State College for Women Friday morning. He will also speak at the regular weekly meeting of the local Rotary Club.

Beer Retailers Will Meet Here Tomorrow

Beer retailers of Fulton county will meet here tomorrow morning to learn how they may co-operate with the "clean up or close up" program of the Georgia Committee of the Brewing Industry Foundation, as well as how to comply with various regulations, brought about as a result of the war, governing the operation of their establishments.

The meeting, starting at 10:30 o'clock, will be held in Hall No. 2 of the Chamber of Commerce. City, county and state officials have been invited to attend.

Judge John S. Wood, state director of the Brewing Industry Foundation, sponsors of the meeting, will explain in detail the committee's program, which is designed to keep beer retailing on a lawful, decent plane in the vicinity of Army camps and throughout other parts of the state. Judge Wood has invited all wholesale beer distributors and retail dealers in the Atlanta area to attend. Perry M. Phelps, price specialist of the Georgia division of the Office of Price Administration, will discuss the OPA's general maximum price regulation, and will tell retailers what they must do to comply fully with the new federal law. Phelps reported that recent surveys among beer retailing establishments here revealed that compliance is "practically zero," and warned that unless the provisions of the statute are adhered to in every particular the OPA will soon "crack down" on violators.

E. G. Lippincott, assistant regional director of the Division of Social Protection of the Federal Security Agency, will inform the retailers how they can co-operate in the DSP program to prevent the spread of venereal disease among the armed services by keeping down prostitution in the vicinity of Army camps. The Brewing Industry Foundation recently wrote nearly 1,700 beer retailers operating in the vicinity of Army camps in Georgia, urging them to give their full co-operation to the DSP campaign.

A motion picture depicting the work of the Brewing Industry Foundation, nationally will be shown at the meeting.

Emily Leach Plans To Major In Languages at Wellesley

• • • BRUNET AND BEAUTIFUL Emily Leach has a decided flair for languages, and will enter her junior year at Wellesley College on August 27, where she expects to major in language. She speaks French and Spanish fluently and is studying German at the moment. During last summer she enrolled at the University of Mexico to perfect herself in Spanish.

Emily is the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Leach and, with her parents, is spending this month at the Georgian Terrace. The Leaches moved from Atlanta to Florida several years ago, and built a handsome residence at Stuart, which they named Tuckahoe-on-the-Indian river.

But, back to Emily and her versatility and accomplishments. She was valedictorian of her class when she was graduated from the Graham Eckes School in Palm Beach, Fla. She plays exquisitely on the harp and will take lessons on her concert harp at the Boston Conservatory of Music this winter. Emily is a devotee of aquatic sports and won the intercollegiate contest in fancy diving at Wellesley College. Her friends marvel at her prowess in this sport when she takes swan, somersault and jackknife dives from the tower at the pool at the Piedmont Driving Club.

The national emergency prompted Emily to offer her services at the American Women's Volunteer Service headquarters, and she does anything her superiors request of her. That she does it well goes without saying, because Emily is no laggard about anything she undertakes.

She will spend December and January with her parents in Stuart, because Wellesley College closes these two months due to the coal shortage. The Leach home is built on a mound that rises 50 feet above the Indian river, and the attractive swimming pool is glimpsed through the palm trees. Acres are planted in annuals, gladioli, amaryllis, calla and Easter lilies. Pineapples, avocados and bananas grow to perfection on the estate. Georgia marble is featured in the floors of the house, which is built of steel and concrete.

• • • CAPTAIN RICHARD N. FICKETT III, who is in Hawaii, wrote his mother he found and married the girl he had been looking for all his life. She is the former Amanda Schielke, of Wilcox, Neb., and is on active duty with the Army Nurses' Corps in Honolulu. They married on August 8 at the Lutheran church, and the lovely bride donned a pink dress and placed a hydrangea blue lei around her neck. None other than Captain Ernest Kontz was best man for the bridegroom, and Helen Meikle was maid of honor for the bride. The dinner for the bride party took place at the Halekulani hotel on Waikiki Beach.

Mrs. Fickett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schielke and graduated from Lincoln General hospital in Lincoln, Neb. She was on the nursing staff of Stanford University hospital in San Francisco, Cal. Captain Fickett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Fickett, of Atlanta and Athens, and the brother of Captain Thomas H. Fickett. He attended Georgia Tech, belongs to the Phi Psi textile fraternity and is a Phi Gamma Delta. He is vice president of the Fickett Cotton Mills at White Hall, Ga.

• • • THREE POPULAR Atlanta girls are going to announce their engagements on August 23. One is working in a government agency and will become the bride of an Army officer who hails from a near-by city. One girl has been a popular figure at debut parties and other social affairs for several years but never made a formal debut. The third girl, an Atlantian, formerly of another southern state, and bearing a name familiar to all Georgians, will marry a young doctor, and plans are already made for their wedding next month. Her cousin, whose last name is the same as hers, will be the maid of honor and only attendant. Can you name them?

For Miss Mathis And Her Fiance

Miss Evelyn Mathis and Ensign W. C. Winfree continue to be honored prior to their marriage, which takes place Saturday evening. This evening they will be honored at a party given by Misses Luttrell Hoffman and Lena Wagoner at the Tavern.

Following their wedding rehearsal tomorrow evening at 9 o'clock at Peachtree Christian church, the bridal couple will be honored at a party given by the Miss Mathis' sister, Mrs. Thad Holt Jr. and Mr. Holt at their home, 3100 Boulevard drive, N. E.

The Dillard reunion will be held at Cherokee Corner church in Arnoldville, Ga., on Sunday, August 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp Announce Assisting List For Reception

Invitations have been received by a group of prominent Atlantians to a reception on Saturday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sharp honoring their son and daughter, Captain and Mrs. Christopher McLoughlin, whose marriage was a recent event. Mrs. McLoughlin is the former Miss Jane Sharp.

Receiving with the hosts will be the bridal couple, and the host's son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sharp. Receiving cards at the door will be Misses Letitia Sharp and Mary Ann Edmondson. Assisting in entertaining will be Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Horsey, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Johnson, Mr. and

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Jones announce the birth of a daughter, Julianne, on August 2, at Georgia Baptist hospital. Mrs. Jones is the former Miss Martha Allen, daughter of D. S. Allen, of Zebulon. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Jones, of Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving M. Galanty announce the birth of a daughter, Ellen Harriet, on July 31 at Piedmont hospital. Mrs. Galanty is the former Miss Fanny Heiman.

Haynes Reunion.

Guests attending the Haynes family reunion on Sunday, August 16, are asked to meet at 64 Clay street, in Kirkwood. Members and friends of the family are invited, and are asked to bring a basket lunch.

THIS IS OUR SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY 1867-1942 RICH'S

Woman Can Destroy Husband's Initiative By Being Bread Winner

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

I have been married for nearly two years and everything was fine until last fall. I began work, and at first he did not want me to, but now that I have stopped he talks about it all the time. While I was working he became very sick, and I had to help him all that time. I had saved lots of money but now that I am not working I have nothing. He keeps telling me that if I worked he could have more. He has been married before, and was not true to his wife, and sometimes I think he is not true to me. He is forever telling me about some pretty girls and about his other wife. I am not jealous, but at the same time it is not very pleasant to hear all this talk. He tells me he loves me, but I think, perhaps, he still loves his other wife. I love him, but I certainly would rather not live with him, with all this talk and his telling me that I am ugly and he does not see why he married me. WORRIES LIZ.

Your husband is like a lot of men who expect their wives to support them. Of course, if he was sick, that was beside the point, for when any loved one is ill, one does not begrudge the money spent for care. However, the set-up has been most unjust to you, and I think he is a most unappreciative person.

There are some men who are never true to one woman, and your husband sounds like this type. But just so long as he talks about the other women, and that is all, then I do not think you should worry. Talk is cheap, you know.

When his talk borders on the whys and wherefores of his marriage to you, that is another story. Taking this talk from him is not gaining you anything, and it is very lowering to your dignity. Next time he talks like this, tell him that there is one thing you wonder, too, and that is why you married him! Tell him he can leave if his marriage seems such a mistake to him, that you are well aware of his unfaithfulness and that he cannot make a success of a marriage. This might bring him to his senses, and make him see that you know a few things yourself. And if you begin work again, see that you do not carry the full burden of support. When a woman supports a husband, said husband will accept it and make no effort to do anything about the situation.

Iodine Deficiency Produces Gloomy Spirit

By Dr. William Brady.

I am in my sixty-ninth year and I have always maintained that any old gal that dyes her hair when she gets to be my age is a fool. Well, my locks were rapidly becoming a nice grey when I began taking the Iodine Ration as directed in your pamphlet. When I had been taking it for about a year, lo and behold, the grey hair began to get back some of its original copper shade. So now I have an old wrinkled face or a face of my age, with what everybody believes to be dyed hair. So what? I feel fine, take care of 500 cases a month in my professional work, but—the "dyed" hair—I blame that on Ol' Doc Brady. Thanking you so much. (Mrs. —.)

I swan, for 28 years—huh-heh-heh—readers have been telling me stories like that. For 28 years I have been hoping to see for myself a case in which actual restoration of the original natural color of the hair has already turned gray occurs when the individual takes suitable daily or weekly ration of iodine.

From personal experience and observation I do believe that an adequate intake of iodine in one form or another, year in and year out, retards or postpones graying of the hair. But restoration of the natural color of hair that has really turned grey, is not so easy to believe.

One who is feeling chronically weary, stale and rather melancholic—as mature adults with iodine deficiency often do—feels likely to see more grey in his or her own hair than he or she sees when the general condition is improved by a few weeks of the Iodine Ration. Then he or she sees rather the amount of hair that still remains more or less pristine or youthful appearance.

I know a suitable daily or weekly intake of iodine does dispel the pensive or gloomy spirit commonly shown by children, particularly girls in their teens and by adults of mature age who are deficient in iodine, whether they show signs of goitre or not.

The nutrition authorities at present estimate that every person over one year of age requires not less than one-tenth of one milligram of iodine daily. I dare not say to what amount of tincture of iodine that is equivalent, but it is approximately 1-500th of a grain of iodine, perhaps as much as you would get a drop of the tincture two or three times a week.

On request, accompanied with stamped envelope bearing your address, I will mail "Instructions for Taking an Iodine Ration."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Glass Blowing. Daughter is a glass blower. Will such work affect her health in any way? (Mrs. C. J.)

Answer—Practically the only danger is injury to the eyes, by excessive heat and by light rays, plus loss of salt in excessive perspiration. Your daughter should wear glasses or goggles to protect the eyes, and she should take a large pinch, say five to ten grains, of salt with each good drink of water when at work.

Camouflage Netter. I am 16, working as a netter on a camouflage net. For some reason I do not know they make us wear masks when at work. Have heard people say you get tuberculosis. Several months ago, in school, I had a positive reaction to a tuberculosis test. (K. M.)

Answer—I do not know why you have to wear gauze mask over nose and mouth unless it is just a precaution against spread of everyday respiratory infections from someone to another. Any boy or girl who has shown a positive reaction to a skin tuberculin test should undergo a careful examination by the doctor every three months to make sure no lung tuberculosis is developing. If possible such examination should include X-ray of chest.

Iodine.

Even slightest taste of iodine is repugnant to me, but I'd like to take your Iodine Ration, and I recall you mentioned a candy tablet for children. (Mrs. E. E. B.)

Answer—A drop of standard tincture of iodine in a glass of water is practically tasteless. Candy or chocolate coated tablets of an iodine compound are available, but comparatively expensive. One such tablet daily or three times a week is the usual ration for children or adults. Send stamped envelope bearing your address for pamphlet "Instructions for Taking an Iodine Ration."

Papaya

What food value has papaya or papaya juice? A preparation called papaya juice is used for tenderizing meats, makes the toughest beef as tender as choicest high-grade beef. Would use of this harm digestion? (J. J. O.)

Answer—Papaya or papaya juice compares with grapefruit or grapefruit juice in nutritive value. As an aid to digestion its effect is feeble if appreciable at all. Unripe fruit contains a ferment-like substance which digests protein. Long ago the Indians wrapped meat in papaya leaves to make it tender. Use of papaya juice for this purpose would not harm digestive apparatus.

Ringworm.

Our daughter has an obstinate ringworm infection of the hands from handling papers. After she had tried prescriptions by several physicians without result we had some of the Whitfield ointment, described in your pamphlet, put on. Her friends laughed at her and called her "Ol' Doc Brady." But in a little over a week her ringworm was better and the hands rapidly became smooth and normal and she has not had any sign of it since. (MRS. C. H. A.)

Answer—Thank you, ma'am. Pamphlet on ringworm—foot itch mailed on request—inclose stamped envelope bearing your address.

Your Diet Comes First In Care of the Teeth

By Ida Jean Kain.

Your dentist can take a look at your false teeth and almost tell what your nutrition has been like over a period of years. And on the basis of your present eating habits he can tell about how many teeth you'll have left when you reach the half-century mark.

If he spots too many cavities, he may take you to task while you are in his power. He will ask: "Don't you like milk? What about your green vegetables?"

"On, sure, I like milk," you will say, as soon as you get the chance. "I don't even mind spinach."

"Is that so? How much milk do you drink?"

"Now, let me see. I drank some milk last week and I had spinach just the other day."

"Hmmm. I thought as much. Do you have orange juice every morning for breakfast?"

"Yes, I have it every morning I have breakfast. You know how it is. Some mornings you get up late. Does orange juice help your teeth?" Anything to keep him from probing!

He will tell you that you need orange juice for the vitamin C, which helps to utilize the calcium and phosphorus you get from milk. But you need other vitamins, too. You need vitamins A and D, so what about butter, cream and eggs? Do you get your share?

You squirm and give him a look that is one part pain and one part fury before he exerts up. As soon as you are equal to conversation you tell the man: "I try to keep away from some of those foods. They are fattening, you know, and a girl has to think about her figure."

He mutters something that, above the hum of the drill, sounds like, "Women are such fools." Then, louder: "Well if you don't eat butter or take cream, you can eat green and yellow vegetables. Full of vitamin A. And you ought to get out in the sun."

"I thought that was to prevent rickets."

But, as he goes on to tell you, you need sun for vitamin D to utilize your minerals, and you should store up plenty in the summer.

"Now, how long has this tooth been bothering you?" He will inquire as he really goes to town. You confess that it hurt you a few months back, but then it quit and didn't start again until day before yesterday.

"Don't you know pain is a danger signal? You should have come in when it first hurt. I'll have a hard time saving it. At this rate, you'll have false teeth by the time you are 50!"

That scares you. You want the entire list of foods that will help you keep your second set. Here's the list you should have daily: At least two glasses of milk, or one glass and a serving of cheese; a glass of orange juice, a green or yellow vegetable and a cooked salad; whole grain bread. For exercise, eat the crusts and have hard rolls occasionally and eat the skins of baked potatoes.

Katherine Brown Will Reign As Film's First Woman Executive

By Louella Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12.—(INS) Meet Katherine Brown, filmland's first woman executive. She has been appointed executive vice president of the Hunt Stromberg Company. I am enough of a feminist to rejoice that one of my sex is given recognition in a top spot in the business end of the movies. Katherine Brown was head of the David Selznick story department for 10 years and before that she purchased R-K-O's stories. She negotiated the deals for "Gone With the Wind" and "Rebecca," and it was she who brought Ingrid Bergman to this country after David had signed her.

Katherine Brown may not mean a lot to the outside world but in motion picture circles her's is a name to conjure with. Since she left the Selznick office she has had practically every producer in town offering her a job. She will spend eight months in Hollywood and four months in the east.

Certainly Republic couldn't find a better idea even in fiction than the life story of "Sergeant Gene Autry," Texas cowboy, who is today one of the most popular stars in the movies. Moe Siegel, Republic head, recognized the value of timely propaganda in making a movie called "Sergeant Autry," showing the actual ceremony of Gene going into the Air Force. So far the most effective propaganda the screen has produced is the Jimmy Stewart short showing Lieutenant Stewart making his plea to other boys to enlist, the influence of a star like Jimmy is so important and Gene, too, is adored by youngsters all over the country.

Just for the information of the Hedy Lamarr fans who are asking if it's true that she is unhappy since she broke her engagement with George Montgomery, it decidedly is not true. I saw Hedy, looking so beautiful in a pale blue summer gown, lunching with Ivan Goff. Talked with her and she said she has never been happier, both in her private life and in her career. Hedy has finally proved her mettle as an actress and she is getting the desirable M-G-M. story material.

Best of all, she is not being kept in a rut, but is having a variety of roles. For instance, her next is "Starlight," a comedy in which she is co-starred with William Powell. The story is an original by Jacques Thery, and Arthur Hornblow Jr., thinks well enough of its potentialities to put it on his list to precede "Quo Vadis."

If there are any American women left who believe that the war is a personal inconvenience to their households, who expect special favors for their sons and who sniff at necessary war restrictions—they should be forced to see "The War Against Mrs. Hadley." It is almost as potent in its punch as "Mrs. Miniver."

MY DAY: Efficiency Behind the Lines

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK, Tuesday.—Between showers yesterday all of us had a little exercise and a swim. While I was over at the big house sorting out things which are to go to various children, I suddenly realized that rain was falling again as hard as ever. I woke this morning to a sky of clouds, which made me wonder if the sun would ever burn through.

It has, and the birds are hopping around and drying themselves. A beautiful scarlet one flew right by my porch bed this morning and a whole family of small pheasants dashed across the road as we walked home yesterday afternoon.

Today I hope we are going to have blue skies all day and a warm sun to lie in for a while. I happened to see a doctor friend of mine in Poughkeepsie yesterday afternoon and he asked me if I didn't feel that I wanted to go away and leave all the things I have been doing. I told him that life was varied enough at home and that I could get plenty of rest and still be busy, and that with three little girls in the house just now we certainly are gay.

The news from the Solomon Islands, Russia and India makes us all very anxious these days. One headline says that Secretary Knox tells us we must face more Valley Forges before we win the war. I cannot help feeling that Russia is facing a good many of them these days.

We are learning that industrial efficiency and well-thought-out and planned equipment, with long years of training, cannot be met by anything which is improvised in a short time. We will achieve our goals eventually, of that I am sure. But we will have to achieve the same kind of efficiency behind the lines, the same kind of discipline among civilians and training in our armed forces that has been accomplished through long years of effort by the Axis powers.

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Chirologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—Before 1:35 p. m. think carefully before you enter into new obligations. This is not an auspicious time for transactions and new relations. Do not expect too much from social affairs this evening.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—The entire morning and until 1:35 p. m. excellent results should follow financial transactions, real estate deals, and this is an auspicious time for moving. Old conditions and dealings with older people should work out harmoniously. After 1:35 p. m. do not put too much trust in promises, and travel should be regulated to avoid accidents.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—Previous to 7:30 p. m. disappointments are likely to come to you by expecting too much or by a lack of preparation. After 7:30 p. m. is a favorable period for deciding important matters that you have under consideration at this time.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER)—The day should prove a most constructive period in every way, favoring financial interests, dealings with professional people, investments and works connected with large concerns.

July 23-August 22 (LEO)—The careful do not expect too much or misjudge or overdo in financial transactions previous to 11:42 a. m. but if you will give attention to affairs of a light vein, or which involve your domestic and social happiness, this can be a very favorable period.

August 23-September 22 (VIRGO)—Previous to 1:31 p. m. you should rely on the advice and assistance of very well informed and stable people and do not enter into anything that has uncertainties. Between 1:31 p. m. and 3:44 p. m. does not especially favor dealings with those in authority or who hold executive positions. The remainder of the day favors communications, literary efforts, interviews.

September 23-October 22 (LIBRA)—The period previous to 2:25 p. m. favors dealings in real estate and matters that have already been started. After 2:25 p. m. a feeling of nervousness may predominate. The period suggests sticking to routine matters.

October 23-November 21 (SCORPIO)—If you have someone special to contact and want your interview to proceed smoothly, make your engagements before 11:08 a. m. Between 11:08 a. m. and 12:06 p. m. favors work requiring mental activity. The afternoon and evening hours favor general business activity.

November 22-December 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—Before 10:35 a. m. favors attention to only ordinary and routine matters. The remainder of the day give full rein to your ac-

Miss Stoutenburgh Marries Ensign William J. Holland

Miss Jane Elizabeth Stoutenburgh, lovely daughter of Commander and Mrs. Daniel Ward Harrigan, became the bride of Ensign William Jackson Holland at a brilliant ceremony performed at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Cathedral of Christ the King.

Monsignor Joseph Moylan officiated, and musical selections were played by Clarence Ehrhardt, organist. The altar was banked with ferns, and beautified with an artistic arrangement of white gladioli.

Ushers were Dr. David Smith, Lieutenant Hugh Hailey, Anderson Champion, Emerson Gardiner, Ensign Revella W. Horne and Ensign Frederick Shaw.

Misses Martha Frost and Ann Pappenhimer served as attendants for the bride, wearing muted blue crepe gowns featuring the pencil silhouette. They carried bouquets of rubrum lilies, and their blond pompadours were topped with crowns of rubrum lilies, from which fell circular blue veils.

Harry L. Holland Jr. was his brother's best man. The bride entered with her father, Commander Harrigan, by whom she was given in marriage. She was never lovelier than in her Victorian wedding gown of chalk white faille. The gown featured an apron front, and the skirt introduced fullness from which a train cascaded several yards in length. Her tulle veil was caught to her hair with orange blossoms at the temples, and she carried a white satin prayer book topped with orchids, and featuring streamers caught with bouvardia.

Mrs. Harrigan chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of navy blue crepe and lace, which was accented by her hat of scarlet aigrets. A shoulder cluster of scarlet gladioli completed her costume. Mrs. Harry Leslie Holland, mother of the groom, wore a model of pale blue crepe with dark brown accessories and a brown hat trimmed with pale blue feathers. Her flowers were gardenias.

After the wedding Commander and Mrs. Harrigan entertained at a reception at the Piedmont Driving Club. With the bride and groom, the groom's parents and the bridesmaids, they received guests standing before a background of ferns. The bride's cake centered a satin covered table, and was wreathed with white flowers and ferns.

Miss Roline Adair kept the bride's book.

Ensign and Mrs. Holland left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a slate blue gabardine suit with dove brown accessories and a shoulder spray of orchids. They will reside in Corpus Christi, Texas, where the groom is attached to the Naval Air Station.

MISS VIRGINIA ESTELLE FREEMAN.

Miss Freeman's engagement to Corporal Victor Gould McVett, of Syracuse, N. Y. and Hawaii, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Freeman, of College Park. The date of the couple's marriage will be announced later.

Miss Florence Wade Weds Dr. Crenshaw in Cornelia, Ga.

CORNELIA, Ga., Aug. 12.—The marriage of Miss Florence Fannon Wade, daughter of Phil S. Wade and the late Mrs. Wade, to Dr. Craig Moffett Crenshaw, of Red Bank, N. J., and Ninety-Six, S. C., took place here at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the home of the bride, Miss Anne Armstrong to Corporal W. R. Bennett, is now visiting Miss Ellen Moore at her home on Rosedale drive.

An improvised altar was formed of white gladioli, English ivy, ferns and cathedral candelabra holding lighted tapers. Mrs. Jack Adams presented the music.

Edwin Cawthon, of Charleston, S. C., acted as best man. The ushers were Clinton Wade, brother of the bride, and her cousin, Wade Atkinson.

Miss Elizabeth Jane Wade was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of lace-trimmed orchid marquisette and she carried a bouquet of yellow flowers. The bridesmaids, Miss Teresa Wade Atkinson, cousin of the bride, of Atlanta, and Miss Bess Patterson, of Homerville, wore pink and blue marquisette, respectively, and carried bouquets of blue delphinium and pink roses.

Couple Celebrates Fortieth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hopkins celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary last Wednesday, at which time they received informally the felicitations of their many friends at their home on Atlanta avenue.

Miss Stoutenburgh Marries Ensign William J. Holland

Miss Jane Elizabeth Stoutenburgh, lovely daughter of Commander and Mrs. Daniel Ward Harrigan, became the bride of Ensign William Jackson Holland at a brilliant ceremony performed at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Cathedral of Christ the King.

Monsignor Joseph Moylan officiated, and musical selections were played by Clarence Ehrhardt, organist. The altar was banked with ferns, and beautified with an artistic arrangement of white gladioli.

Ushers were Dr. David Smith, Lieutenant Hugh Hailey, Anderson Champion, Emerson Gardiner, Ensign Revella W. Horne and Ensign Frederick Shaw.

Misses Martha Frost and Ann Pappenheimer served as attendants for the bride, wearing blue crepe gowns featuring the pencil silhouette. They carried bouquets of rubrum lilies, and their blond pompadours were topped with crowns of rubrum lilies, from which fell circular blue veils.

Harry L. Holland Jr. was his brother's best man. The bride entered with her father, Commander Harrigan, by whom she was given in marriage. She was never lovelier than in her Victorian wedding gown of chalk white tulle. The gown featured an apron front, and the skirt introduced fullness from which a train cascaded several yards in length. Her tulle veil was caught to her hair with orange blossoms at the temples, and she carried a white satin prayer book topped with orchids, and featuring streamers caught with bouvardia.

Mrs. Harrigan chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of navy blue crepe and lace, which was accented by her hat of scarlet algeirs. A shoulder cluster of white gladioli completed her costume. Mrs. Harry Leslie Holland, mother of the groom, wore a model of pale blue crepe with dark brown accessories and a brown hat trimmed with pale blue feathers. Her flowers were gardenias.

After the wedding Commander and Mrs. Harrigan entertained at a reception at the Piedmont Driving Club. With the bride and groom, the groom's parents and the bridesmaids, they received guests standing before a background of ferns. The bride's cake centered a satin covered table, and was wreathed with white flowers and ferns.

Miss Roline Adair kept the bride's book.

Ensign and Mrs. Holland left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a slate blue gabardine suit with dove brown accessories and a shoulder spray of orchids. They will reside in Corpus Christi, Texas, where the groom is attached to the Naval Air Station.

MISS VIRGINIA ESTELLE FREEMAN.

Miss Freeman's engagement to Corporal Victor Gould McNett, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Hawaii, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Freeman, of College Park. The date of the couple's marriage will be announced later.

Miss Florence Wade Weds Dr. Crenshaw in Cornelia, Ga.

CORNELIA, Ga., Aug. 12.—The marriage of Miss Florence Fannon Wade, daughter of Phil S. Wade and the late Mrs. Wade, to Dr. Craig Moffett Crenshaw, of Red Bank, N. J., and Ninety-Six, S. C., took place here at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the home of the bride, Monsignor Joseph Moylan, of Christ the King cathedral, Atlanta, officiated.

An improvised altar was formed of white gladioli, English ivy, ferns and cathedral candelabra holding lighted tapers. Mrs. Jack Adams presented the music.

Edwin Cawthon, of Charleston, S. C., acted as best man. The ushers were Clinton Wade, brother of the bride, and her cousin, Wade Atkinson.

Miss Elizabeth Jane Wade was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of lace-trimmed orchid marquisette and she carried a bouquet of yellow flowers. The bridesmaids, Miss Teresa Wade Atkinson, cousin of the bride, of Atlanta, and Miss Bess Patterson, of Homerville, wore pink and blue marquisette, respectively, and carried bouquets of blue delphinium and pink roses.

The lovely bride, wore a gown of white satin trimmed in seed pearls and featuring a peacock train. Her veil of silk illusion was caught to a coronet. She carried her late mother's wedding handkerchief of Battenberg lace. Her flowers were a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

A reception followed the ceremony. Miss Martha Crenshaw, the groom's sister, kept the bride's book. Miss Eleanor Kimsey, Miss Mary Clair Dickson and Miss Lois Colley, of Hartford, Conn., assisted in serving.

The couple left for a short wedding trip, after which they will reside in Red Bank, N. J., where Dr. Crenshaw is connected with the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth.

Guests from a distance included Mrs. J. C. Crenshaw, mother of the groom, of Ninety-Six, S. C.; Miss Elizabeth Fannon, the bride's aunt, of Meriden, Conn.; Mrs. Charles D. Atkinson, Mrs. Virginia Wade Bolden, also aunts of the bride; Mrs. L. C. Wade, grandmother of the bride, all of Atlanta; Mrs. D. J. Donaher and Miss Lois Colley, of Hartford, Conn.

More Nurses Needed To Fill Unit at Emory

Hospital Complement Is To Leave for Camp September 1.

Announcement there are still a few vacancies for Army nurses in the Emory unit which will leave Atlanta for camp September 1 was made yesterday by Lieutenant Colonel L. A. Ferguson, head of the unit, who also announced that Lieutenant Susan W. LaFrage, chief nurse of the 43d hospital, is in Atlanta to interview candidates for commissions in the unit. Lieutenant LaFrage yesterday said nurses who are selected to complete the quota of 105 for the Emory Unit will receive commissions in the Army and will enjoy all the privileges of officers.

In order to qualify for the unit, nurses must be graduates of an accredited school of nursing. All 14 training schools in Georgia are accredited. Candidates must be under 40 years of age and must be able to pass the physical requirements. They should be members of the Red Cross, as such membership will greatly expedite the procedure for entrance into the unit.

Present plans for the 43d hospital, which is continuation of the famous 43d hospital of the last war, call for a bed capacity of 1,000, with expansion capacities up to 3,000.

"Nurses who will be graduated the last of August are eligible for acceptance in the Emory Unit," Lieutenant LaFrage said yesterday. "And I can't too strongly emphasize the professional opportunity the unit offers to nurses. All equipment is the best and most modern. The benefit of the latest medical research is utilized by the Army. Uncle Sam believes in the best and that is what he is providing for Army hospitals."

It's Wonderful. Lieutenant LaFrage is enthusiastic about the Army. She has been in active service for a short time and says she still has lots to learn about Army routine, but "it's wonderful."

"We receive every consideration," she said. "And they are grand about the little things. Look at this uniform, for instance," she said, indicating a smart blue suit and a cap which bears the label of a famous milliner inside. "All our uniforms are smartly designed. The new beige one is perfectly beautiful. And we have a blue shirtwaist dress that is about the most flattering thing I ever saw."

All the uniforms she described are new designs created this season by leading American designers, who made the uniforms look like creations for the Ten Best Dressed Women instead of uniforms.

Lieutenant LaFrage will be available for interviews and information regarding openings for nurses in the Emory Unit until the group goes to camp on September 1. She may be reached for appointment at Cherokee 1704.

Mercer Student Wins $100 Prize for Essay

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Edward E. Dorsey Jr., member of the graduating class of the Mercer University School of Law, Macon, Ga., is author of the $100 prize-winning essay on copyright law in the school's annual Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition, according to announcement of Dean D. M. Feild's committee for the award. Mr. Dorsey's subject was "Copyright and the Newspaper." Similar awards are made in nearly 100 of the leading law schools throughout the country.

R. E. Starnes Appointed Steel Union Organizer

R. E. Starnes, president of local union 2401, United Steelworkers of America and employed by Atlantic Steel Company for the past eight years, has been appointed an organizer of the United Steelworkers of America, it was announced yesterday.

A native Atlantian, Starnes has served as president of the local union since its organization in June of 1941 and has been active in the organizing work of this district for the past two years.

WELL WORTH IT.

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 12.—A mighty good idea is to make several extra cans of syrup this fall. It will mean additional pleasure this winter when hot biscuits and butter are passed around at breakfast time. Also, says the Extension Service, it will be well worth it to increase the amount of many food products.

Sleep for SKIN-ITCHING and BURNING

Follow the lead of the many in 45 years, who have relied most successfully on bland, comforting Resinol Ointment. Specially medicated to bring quick relief from itching and burning of eczema, irritation about the rectum or personal parts, and many other skin troubles, externally caused. Due to the oily Resinol base, the medication stays in contact, thus prolonging relief. Try it! For cleansing, use Resinol Soap. Buy both at any drug store.
